AIMEE'S RADIO MAN TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

Ormiston Will Give Bond as Soon as Indictments Are Received

OPERATOR IN CHICAGO

Attorney Says He Denies Mrs. McPherson Was Companion at Carmel

Chicago, Dec. 11—Kenneth G. Ormiston will fight extradition to California, it was announced today by Attorney Edward H. S. Martin, following a conference with the one-time radio operator of Angelus Temple.

"Ormiston can not be arrested until warrants, accompanied by copies of the indictments against him reach Chicago," said Martin. "When he is arrested, he will give bond and fight his removal to Los Angeles."

Martin declared Ormiston flatly denied that Mrs. McPherson was his sweetheart or that he spent 10 days with her in a Carmel, Calif., cottage.

Denies Getting Money

It was the discovery, according to police, of evidence coindicating Mrs. McPherson had not been kidnaped as she claimed that launched the investigation and subsequent holding of the woman pastor for trial.

"Ormiston denied to me," said Martin, "that he had received any money from anyone since he was discovered by a newspaper reporter, but he did say that he was planning to write some articles about his relationship with Aimee McPherson."

The elusive former broadcaster at Aimee's Angelus Temple reached here last night from Harrisburg, Pa., where he was discovered last Wednesday, living under an assumed name, by a Chicago reporter and two detectives. Ormiston was induced to return with his "captors" to Chicago.

Papers Prepared

Extradition papers already are being prepared in Los Angeles, where Ormiston is wanted as a vital witness in the McPherson case now pending before the courts, according to telegrams from that city today. Ormiston and the woman evangelist stand accused of having occupied a cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea during the time Mrs. McPherson claims she was held by kidnapers in Mexico. Ormiston admits occupying the cottage, but claims his companion was not Mrs. McPherson, but a mysterious "Miss X."

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MEETS IN LOCAL SCHOOL

Columbus Man Is Principal Speaker at Session Being Held Today

Teachers from all the schools in Marion County were here today attending a meeting of the County Teachers' Association. The sessions, which occupied all day, were held in Central Junior High School, with approximately 130 teachers present. B. A. Moore, president of the Association, presided.

The chief address of the meeting was given by Frank E. Wilson, chief of the Department of Examination and Licensing, Columbus, who spoke at the afternoon session. At both morning and afternoon meetings talks were given by Abe Davis, of Columbus. This morning he talked on "Experiments in Elementary Science," and this afternoon on "The Value of the Science Course in High School." At the morning session L. B. Brown gave a talk on "Arithmetic" and J. M. Diley on "History." In the afternoon a talk was given by Mrs. Orial Garber, of Caledonia on "Seventh Grade Geography."

Music was given at both sessions. The meeting was opened by two numbers by the entire Association, led by Ellmore Miller, with Mrs. Opal Durnell at the piano. A recitation was given by H. L. Miller.

At the opening of the afternoon session the Caledonia School presented an instrumental ensemble, under the direction of J. M. Crimm, and the Meeker High School Chorus sang, directed by Margaret Williams. Reports of the literary committee and roll call closed the program this afternoon.

BATHER ELECTROCUTED

Cleveland, Dec. 11—Stepping from a bathtub, Rudolph Robin was killed at his home here early today when his wet body came in contact with an electric heater.

HELD FOR SLAYING

Man Says He Shot Raiders For Entering Wife's Room

Perry, Fla., Dec. 11—With J. W. Buchanan ordered held by a coroner's jury for murder in connection with the slaying of Jacob P. Brandt, 45, and Walter C. Mobray, 38, government prohibition agents, preparation were under way to send the bodies today to their respective homes in Minneapolis and Ford, Md.

Local authorities threw a net of secrecy around the coroner's jury investigation and withheld details of affray.

The shooting occurred at Buchanan's home, about 15 miles from here. The agents had a warrant to search his premises. Buchanan voluntarily surrendered after the shooting and was said by authorities to have declared that he shot the two men when they insisted on searching his wife's dressing room.

JUSTICE WILL NOT TAKE CLERK POST AT $1,800

Judge-Elect Martin Faces Problem as Assistants Balk at Salaries

ORGANIZATION UPSET

New Tribunal Head Surprised at Action of Council, He Claims

Joseph M. Justice, local justice of the peace, appointed as chief clerk of Marion's new Municipal Court, will not accept the position at the salary decided upon by members of City Council.

He made this clear today in a statement regarding action taken at a conference of Council members held Wednesday night, when the clerk's salary was fixed at $1,800.

In addition to agreeing upon this salary figure, which is the minimum prescribed in the statute creating the local Municipal Court, Council eliminated half of the force of assistants which Judge-elect William R. Martin appointed several weeks ago to handle the business of the court after it begins operations on Jan. 1.

Plans Upset

Martin's plans for organization of the tribunal have been almost completely upset by Council's decision, he stated today. Should Mr. Justice go through with his intention to turn down the appointment, the judge-elect will face the task of finding another man, capable of doing the work properly, who will consent to taking the place at the minimum salary.

John H. Powell, 701 Herman-st, appointed as deputy clerk, will also refuse to serve, according to the opinion expressed today by Mr. Martin. Powell was selected as deputy clerk and the list of court employes agreed upon by council makes no provision for that position. A bookkeeper to receive $1,000 a year is one of the three appointees designated but there is said to be little likelihood of Powell taking this position, his salary as an employe of the Osgood Co. being far above $1,000.

It is understood that Judge-elect Martin had expected council to fix the clerk's salary at $2,500 a year and the deputy's around $1,700.

News of the agreement reached by Council members on the court clerk-hire and salary ordinance came as a decided surprise to Mr. Martin, he said today.

DEATH KNELL OF COOLIDGE'S TAX PLAN SOUNDED

Republican Leader Declares Himself in Favor of Applying Surplus to Debt

FOLLOWS HOUSE SURVEY

Decision Regarded as Definitely Ending All Hopes of Reduction Legislation

Washington, Dec. 11—The death knell of President Coolidge's tax refund proposal was sounded today when Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican leader in the house, declared himself in favor of applying the surplus to reduction of the public debt.

The Republican leader also put his foot down upon the Democratic proposal for a permanent revision of the revenue laws at the short session of congress.

This decison, reached by Tilson after consulting the rank and file of the Republicans in the house, is regarded as definitely ending all hopes for tax reduction legislation at this session.

E. CHURCH-ST PAVING REACHES COMPLETION

Largest Street Improvement on 1926 Program Now Open to Traffic

Construction of the paving on E Church-st between Reed-av and Kensington-pl, the largest street improvement contract on the city's 1926 schedule, was completed yesterday and the thoroughfare is now open to traffic.

This winds up Marion's street paving work for the year, all of the 1926 improvements, with the exception of the Oak Grove-av paving, having been completed. Oak Grove is to be paved with concrete and work there has been stopped by the arrival of freezing weather, which prevents the laying of concrete. The Oak Grove job would have been finished, City Engineer T. S. Cathers states, had weather conditions during October and November been more favorable.

The Church-st paving had been near completion for several weeks, the work having been temporarily halted by inclement weather. Laying the final section of brick surfacing wound up the construction work yesterday.

The contract price for this improvement was approximately $60,000. The work was done by the contracting firm of Uncapher and Gillespie.

GOODYEAR TIRE FIGHT NOW IN TOLEDO COURTS

Bill of Complaint Charges F. S. Seiberling Illegally Controls Stock

Akron, Dec. 11—Fight for control of the entire plant and $200,000,000 assets of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. here has been transferred to the jurisdiction of the Toledo courts.

This action followed filing of a bill of complaint against the organization by K. C. Benedict, a stockholder of New York City.

Some of the best legal talent in the country is expected to participate in the battle which is aimed at wresting control of the organization from S. F. Seiberling, Henry B. Manton and Russell L. Robinson.

It is alleged in the bill that Seiberling illegally holds control of the common stock.

Lad Darts in Front of Auto; Driver Exonerated

Columbus, Dec. 11—His skull fractured, eight-year-old James Meyers lay in Radium Hospital here today. His condition is serious. Darting in front of an automobile driven by Joe Williams, the lad was knocked down. Williams was exonerated by police. The child's parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Meyers, learned of the accident when they tuned in on WAIU, a local radio station, and heard a description of their son broadcast.

Giant and Midget Partners

On Farm Together After Years of Circus Life They Find Happiness

(Central Press Photos)
"Captain" Shade Shields and "Major" William Ray.

HORNERSVILLE, Mo., Dec. 11—Perhaps the most diversified farmers in the United States are "Captain" Shade Shields, six feet six, and a former circus giant, and "Major" William Ray, 41 inches, formerly a professional midget, who are joint owners of a 100-acre farm near Hornersville. These erstwhile knights of the sawdust continue to till a good part of their farm despite their sixty-nine years of age. Both admit that the crops the past season were "pretty fair."

The pair became friends back in the old Sells' Brothers circus, where the captain was number two of the "four tallest brothers in the world" and the major was one of a midget troop.

Major Ray fell in love with Mary Anders, another midget of the troop. The couple began saving up their wages, and in 1898 were married. Thereupon they quit the circus and went forth to try their luck on the farm.

Captain Shields quit the circus later in the same year and became the host of Major Ray and his little wife. Liking life under the open blue sky better than life under the best grade of stock canvas, he became a partner in the farm. In 1902 the pair opened a merchandise store in Hornersville, but the project did not prove particularly successful, so they sold out the following year and returned to farming.

In 1904 Major Ray went to St. Louis and became "Buster Brown" at the World's Fair held in St. Louis that year. And for eleven years following the fair, Major Ray and his famous dog "Tige" advertised a brand of shoes throughout the United States.

The Major likes dogs. He has owned two of them named "Tige." Both "Tiges" are now buried in his yard.

On their Missouri farm the days and years just "roll along." The former circus men are getting too old to be particularly diligent in their farming so they have just cut down the acreage to what they can conveniently handle. They have a boat for fishing and they frequently use it. Major Ray has a specially built miniature Ford coupe which he will even admit is "pretty cute."

Captain Shields recalls with no little pride "the four tallest brothers in the world."

"We lacked little of being just that," he avers. "I was six feet nine back in those days and our tallest boy was just a trifle over seven feet with his boots on. I liked the circus and circus friends are about the best friends in the world. But somehow I just like farming somewhat better."

Ill-Health Annually Costs People of United States Billion Dollars, is Claim

Surgeon General Cumming Declares Approximately 84 Per Cent of Rural Population Unprovided with Adequate Local Service; Says Some Diseases Could Be Eliminated

Washington, Dec. 11—Ill-health costs the people of the United States $1,000,000,000 annually, congress was told today by Surgeon General Hugh Cumming, in his annual report on the public health service.

"Approximately 84 per cent of the rural population of the country is unprovided with adequate official health service, the lack of which causes a loss of human life and earnings estimated at $1,000,000,000 each year," Cumming said.

Some diseases, smallpox and diphtheria, for instance could be practically eliminated if the public could be made to realize the advantages of using well known methods of prevention, the report said.

"Thousands of persons in the United States suffer and die each year because of lack of available information or indifference which prevents the use of method of prevention, the efficacy and safety of which have been proven," Cumming said.

One hundred cities have adopted the tentative milk ordinance developed by the public health service. In actual operation this ordinance has proved to be capable of enforcement, has improved the quality of milk and at the same time the amount of milk used has increased, the report said.

"The death rate from tuberculosis in 26 states in 1925 was 81.8 per 100,000 of population, while in 1924 in the same states the rate was 84.8. This reduction is a continuation of the general trend of this disease for a quarter of a century.

"If the tuberculosis death rate of 1900, 201.9 per 100,000 had prevailed in these 26 states during 1925, there could have been 189,000 deaths from this disease, instead of 76,695 deaths, indicating a saving of more than 112,000 lives," the report said.

TAKE ANOTHER STEP TO MAKE AIR TRAVEL SAFE

Altitude Chamber To Treat Aeronautical Instruments Perfected by Bureau

Washington, Dec. 11—Another step in the government's campaign to make air transportation safe was announced today by the United States Bureau of Standards.

The altitude chamber in which aeronautical instruments may be tested under conditions equivalent to those 40,000 feet above the earth's surface, has been perfected by the bureau.

Initial tests will simulate altitudes of not over 12,000 feet; later important aeronautical instruments, such as mercury barometers, rate-of-climb indicators and height measuring devices, will be operated at conditions found in the higher atmosphere.

FEAR FOUL PLAY

Son-in-Law of Kentucky Commissioner Is Missing

Danville, Ky., Dec. 11—Charles F. Henderson, 50, son-in-law of Cecil Coleman, Kentucky commissioner of agriculture, was missing here today.

Henderson's automobile was found at a bridge which crosses Herrington Lake. The windshield had been smashed and on the seat was Henderson's hat, covered with bloodstains.

Police believe that Henderson was robbed and then killed and his body thrown into the lake.

The lake was being dragged for the body, but the search thus far had not been successful.

Conspiracy Case Of Fall, Doheny Ready For Jury

Opposing Counsel Close Presentation of Evidence and Court Adjourns Until Monday Morning, When Final Arguments Will Be Made

TODAY FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF LEASE-SIGNING

Charge Likely To Be Given Jurors Tuesday Night; John McCormack, Noted Tenor, Last Witness Called by Defense

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11—The Fall-Doheny conspiracy case is ready for final presentation to the jury.

On the fourth anniversary of the signing of the naval oil reserve leases for which E. L. Doheny, millionaire oil magnate, and former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall are standing trial for conspiracy, opposing counsel today closed the presentation of evidence and their rebuttal and court adjourned until Monday morning when final arguments will be made to the jury.

The case will go to the jury Tuesday night. Justice Hoehling allotted a full court day each to the government and the defense.

On Monday morning, Owen J. Roberts, special oil counsel, will open summation for the government, to be followed in the afternoon by either Frank J. Hogan or Wilton J. Lambert for the defense. Tuesday will see one of the defense counsel closing in the morning, and Atlee Pomerene closing finally the case for the government.

Abandons Idea

The government abandoned the idea of calling former Secretary of State Hughes to refute the now famous Gleaves reports of 1920-21 indicating secret preparation for an invasion of America by Japan.

These reports, the defense claims, prompted Doheny, "as a patriot," to enter into the oil contracts and leases.

Roberts learned following a personal conference with Hughes that the former statesman would lend no comfort to the prosecution. If called, it was indicated, he would have to further aid the defense case by admitting the gravity of the "war scare" reports at the time in question, and by supporting Secretary of the Navy Wilbur's contention that their publication would be detrimental to the public welfare.

M'Cormack Testifies

Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for Doheny, made the gesture of finality soon after court opened. Only one witness was heard, John McCormack, the opera star, who testified as a character witness for the oil magnate. Wilton J. Lambert, Fall's counsel, did not put on any witnesses, resting his case with Hogan's.

The first defense angle Roberts attacked was the alleged "secrecy agreement" between Fall and former Admiral J. K. Robison, whereby the latter was to have withheld information from members of congress about the leasing activities in the naval oil reserves.

Over defense objection, he read to the jury letters Robison had written to three congressmen in 1922. In answer to their requests for information, Robison had stated it was to be the government's policy to keep drilling activities "as low as practicable" adding that offset wells were to be sunk only where private wells were located directly across the border.

Offers Minutes

Roberts then offered the minutes of a navy council meeting at which Secretary of the Navy Denby said:

"This oil leasing business is both difficult and dangerous. It is full of dynamite and I don't want to have anything to do with it."

At another meeting of the council Robison announced he had "definite proposal" for the oil storage project at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. This was before bids were asked.

INDICT JUSTICE

Two Constables and Dry Raider Also Face Charges

Youngstown, Dec. 11—Justice of the Peace James Gibson was under indictment here today for alleged embezzlement of public funds, and two constables and a former dry raider were indicted as a result of a probe by the Mahoning County grand jury of alleged misconduct of squires and dry raiders. John C. Carrothers, ex-dry raider, is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and George Tablack and Steven Ekenisk, constables, face true bills alleging assault upon two women.

POSTPONES SETTLEMENT

Geneva, Dec. 11—The League of Nations council, in secret session this afternoon, decided to postpone any definite settlement of the question of control of German armaments.

POLLAK STEEL OPERATING ON DOUBLE SHIFTS

Increase Regarded as Forerunner of Brisk Building Program in Spring

In order to handle its steadily increasing business, which is the largest in several years for this season of the year, the Pollak Steel Co. this week began operating on a 20-hour a day schedule at its Marion plant, the working force being divided into two 10-hour shifts. This plan, which officials say enables them to accomplish larger production, will probably be in effect during an extended period, as orders now being received by the company indicate that the demand for heavy output will continue during all of next year.

Although this is ordinarily a dull season of the year with the Pollak Co. and similar manufacturing companies, operations at the local plant are being maintained at a high peak. There are now approximately 325 men on the payroll, the largest number employed in several years.

Plant Busy

Prospects of extensive operations throughout the country are seen in the class of orders which is keeping the Pollak plant busy at this time. Steel bars for use in concrete construction work constitute a large part of the production here, which is said to be of unusual proportions.

This is regarded as practically an unmistakable forerunner of an exceptional amount of building during the spring and summer.

Production of bars for the manufacture of tools is another important factor in present operations of the local plant.

The Pollak Co. has plants in Cincinnati and Chicago and the working force at each these places is unusually large for this season of the year, it is stated.

TEN ARRESTED

Result of Federal Grand Jury Probe of "Kangaroo Courts"

Cleveland, Dec. 11—Arrest of ten persons on federal grand jury indictments growing out of the extensive probe of justice of the peace "kangaroo courts" and activities of dry raiders in Cuyahoga County was expected today.

The indictments were returned late yesterday, the names being withheld until those indicted are arrested.

Many additional indictments are expected, federal officials said.

No Possibility of Marion Dropping Out of Limelight as One of Ohio's Most Widely-Known Cities With Six Local Men Filling State Presidents' Chairs

THERE is no possibility of Marion dropping out of the limelight as one of Ohio's most important and most widely advertised cities, at least for another year.

There is every probability, of course, that the old home town will continue to occupy its station of eminence for all time, as it has all the qualities which are essential to leadership, but right now its ascendency is particularly well established.

The fact that seven Marion citizens are now occupying the position of president or other chief executive offices in state-wide organizations and that at least three others are filling stations of considerable prominence little less than actual leadership, gives this city its present claim to notable distinction.

Here is a list of the men who are now taking a prominent part in the work of keeping the name and location of Marion standing out prominently upon the map of Ohio:

J. W. Jacoby, 392 E. Church-st, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards. Mr. Jacoby will retire from this office on Jan. 1 but will immediately begin his duties as a member of the taxation and legislation committee of the National Association, made up of some of the country's most prominent realtors.

Charles B. King, 301 Lafayette-st, president of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association. Mr. King, who is vice president and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., was head of the state organization during the last year and a few days ago was re-elected for 1927.

Cicero Z. Zachman, 351 Franklin-st, president of the Ohio Grocers' Association. Mr. Zachman for many years has operated a grocery on S. Main-st.

O. H. Boyd, 316 S. Main-st, president of the Ohio Music Merchants' Association. This is the first time that the chief office of this organization has gone to a resident of a small city. Mr. Boyd is president and general manager of the H. Ackerman Piano Co.

Charles L. Justice, 130 Merchant-av, president of the State Elks Association. Mr. Justice, recently elected judge of the Court of Appeals in the Third Ohio district, is also inner guard of the state grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, and within a few years will advance to the station of Grand Chancellor.

Dale Gorman, 352 Girard-av, president of the state B. Y. P. U., a Baptist young people's organization. Mr. Gorman is employed at the Erie offices here.

J. H. Ramey, 115 Superior-st, brigadier-general of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias of Ohio. Mr. Ramey served several years as colonel in this district and this year was advanced to the highest office in the state. He is employed as head of the repair department of the Huber Manufacturing Co.

John Abel, 213 Wildwood-ct, state vice president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. He is slated for advancement to the presidency soon. Mr. Abel is secretary of the local lodge.

Grant E. Mouser Jr., Hill-st, directing head of the association of City Solicitors organized some time ago in connection with the campaign against increased public utility rates in Marion and other Ohio cities. Mr. Mouser resigned this week as City Solicitor to accept a position as special counsel in the office of the Attorney General.

F. A. Stengel, 142 S. State-st, trustee of the National Optometrists' Association and director of the association's department of public information. Mr. Stengel is a former president of the state organization of optometrists.

Attention was directed to the unusually large number of Marion men occupying high stations in state organizations during a recent social gathering at Hotel Harding held in honor of Guy H. Hulse, former executive secretary of the local Retail Merchants' Bureau, who is now field secretary of a national credit organization. It was discovered that three of the men in this company were presidents of different state associations.

A survey which followed brought out the list given above. It is believed that no other city of medium size in Ohio and few of much larger population can match Marion's record in this respect.

APPLICATIONS FOR WAR BONUS ARE DUE DEC. 15

Failure To File Claims Would Cause Veterans To Forfeit Compensation

Although payment of a bonus to all of Ohio's World War veterans was authorized by a vote of the people about six years ago, many of the ex-soldiers have never filed application for the allowance and now to avoid forfeiting right to this compensation for all time they must submit their claims on or before Wednesday, Dec. 15.

There are believed to be a number of Marion County Worldd War veterans among those who have never applied for the bonus and efforts to have them file claims before the time limit expires are now being made by local American Legion officers.

Sandrock Leads

The movement is headed by A. W. Sandrock, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, who took action immediately after receiving notice yesterday from Herbert R. Mooney, state commander of the Legion, that Dec. 15 had been definitely fixed as the final day for filing applications. Commander Mooney sent copies of this notice to all Ohio Legion posts with the request that a concerted effort be made to see that no Ohio ex-service man loses his bonus through failure to qualify.

All World War veterans who were resident of Ohio prior to entry into the service are entitled to the compensation.

Proportioned

The bonus payments are proportioned according to length of service and for soldiers who served during the greater part of America's participation in the war the amounts total several hundred dollars.

Officers of the local Legion post recently found an ex-service man here who had never applied for the federal bonus, granted through act of Congress. His application was filed just before the time limit expired.

A group of people busy themselves relating to each other what they like for breakfast, and none of them cares. It's called "conversation."

In tornado insurance there is no investigation into the origin of the disaster as there is in fire insurance.

Table manners are what one learns at home. Don't give the home away.

EUROPEAN SECRETARY TO ADDRESS MEN'S CLASS

Ralph W. Hollinger, Y. M. C. A. Executive, Will Be Guest of Martin Verburg

Ralph W. Hollinger, associate general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Europe, with headquarters established at Geneva, Switzerland, will arrive in Marion tonight for a two days' visit in this city, General Secretary Martin Verburg of the local Y. M. C. A. announced.

At 9:15, Sunday morning, Mr. Hollinger will address the men's class of the First Presbyterian Church. Sunday afternoon he will talk before a meeting of the combined Hi-Y clubs at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Hollinger will lecture on "Religious Conditions in Europe Since the War, Sunday night, at the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church. Accompanying him are four young women who, in the costume of the countries they represent, will sing a number of American folk songs and Christmas carols. They represent Scotland, Holland, Spain and Japan.

Mr. Hollinger will probably address the public schools Monday morning and will speak before the Rotary Club Monday noon.

Mr. Hollinger has spent much of his time in Europe since the World War and has visited all countries, having become familiar with situations developing in Europe.

ONLY 157 DOG LICENSES SOLD, REPORT REVEALS

There has been no great rush for dog tags since the first few days they went on sale in the county auditor's office. Only 157 dog licenses have been issued so far.

Last year there were 3,000 licenses issued in the county. New licenses must be purchased for all dogs in the county by the first of the year, or the dogs will be fair game for the city and county officers.

MARION KIWANIS CLUB ANNOUNCES OFFICERS

Fred A. Stengel Is New President; C. Z. Zachman Named Vice Head

Officers who will head the Marion Kiwanis Club during the next year have been announced, following the annual election held during the last week. Kiwanis elections are held by ballot, the members being sent the ballots carrying the names of nominees named by a nominating committee.

Fred A. Stengel is the new president of the Kiwanis Club. He will take office the first of the year. Other officers chosen are C. Z. Zachman, vice president; John J. Hane, treasurer, and Dr. James W. McMurray, district trustee.

Directors of the club for the coming year are Hector S. Young, John H. Clark, H. J. Barnhart, C. W. McClain, George Whysall, T. J. McFarland and H. R. Schaffner.

M'DERMOTT'S TRIAL TO GET UNDER WAY MONDAY

Mrs. Mellett Among First Prosecution Witnesses To Be Subpenaed

Canton, Dec. 11—The first of approximately 40 state's witnesses who will be relied upon by the state of Ohio to convict Patrick E. McDermott of the murder of Don R. Mellett, slain crusading publisher of the Canton Daily News were to be subpenaed today.

Coroner T. C. McQuate and Mrs. Mellett, widow of the slain editor, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vail, who were in the Mellett home when the editor was slain last July were to be the first ones subpenaed, it was announced.

County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock refused to make known but few of his witnesses. It is known that the state will depend largely upon the stories of Steve Kascholk, Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, and Peggy Cavanaugh, pretty Cleveland waitress and girl friend of the dapper Pat.

McClintock, however, indicated today that one surprise witness, whose name has never figured in the case, might offer testimony that would overrun Kascholk's tale, as far as sensational revelations are concerned.

The state's attorney refused to identify the surprise witness or even hint at the possible trend of the testimony he will offer.

It is a remarkable fact that no form of government is so bad but that a good many men can get rich carrying on industry under it.

HOUSEWIVES COMPLAIN OF VARNISH SALESMAN

Two calls were received by local police yesterday from Marion homes complaining about a varnish peddler who is said to have used abusive and insulting language toward a number of housewives who refused to make purchases. The calls came from different localities in the West Side. Officers responded to both summons but were unable to find the salesman.

MARION MAN FINED $10 FOR CHOKING WIFE

Homer Walters, 37, Pleads Guilty to Charges When Brought Before Mayor

Homer Walters, 37, of 770 N. State-st, was arrested yesterday afternoon at the Amicon Bros. wholesale fruit house, where he is employed, on a charge of assault filed in police court by his wife, Mrs. Harriet Walters.

Mrs. Walters informed Mayor Hazen that her husband choked her and threw her to the floor of their home during an altercation yesterday.

Walters pleaded guilty and was released after paying a fine of $10.

A more generous gift it is impossible to imagine

—a beautiful Willys-Knight Great Six Sedan.. Will this princely gift be "theirs" on Christmas morning?

A complete catalog of all Sedans of all makes in the luxury group would reveal, in this Great Six Sedan, more features of convenience and control and a greater serving of comfort for women-drivers than could be found in practically any other.

A TRULY fine motor-car—what woman wouldn't thrill at the thought of having it?

What mother, wife, or daughter wouldn't everlastingly be grateful for such magnificent evidence of your Christmas generosity?

The Willys-Knight Great Six is a real Christmas Car, regally luxurious, extraordinarily comfortable, beautiful almost beyond expression.

A very powerful car, very fast, exceedingly active. Modernly engineered, modernly designed. The Willys-Knight Great Six was the first to present the most advanced engineering practices of Europe combined with wholly new and greatly improved American performance standards.

To the American owner, this distinguished automobile brings the same type of power-plant used in the most costly cars made abroad—the French Panhard and Voisin, the Belgian Minerva, the British Daimler-Knight...

This great feature—the Knight sleeve-valve engine is patented, protected, exclusive. It is a feature other manufacturers would pay millions to get. Because it is an engine you'll never wear out. You never have to lay it up for carbon cleaning. It has no valves to grind. It is the only automobile engine in the world that actually improves with use. The only engine that grows quieter, smoother and more powerful with every mile.

Why not decide today to make this the most memorable Christmas those nearest and dearest have ever experienced? The way is clear. On the morning of the 25th, let there be awaiting them at the door a gloriously beautiful Willys-Knight Great Six Sedan.

Willys-Knight Great Six prices from $1750 to $2295. Prices f. o. b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice.

All Willys-Knight Great Sixes now are equipped with silent Belflex shackles—a tremendous engineering advance over the noisy metal shackles of other cars. Belflex stops all chassis rattles and squeaks, deadens road-vibration, completely eliminates the need for chassis lubrication. A noiseless, flexible fabric—shock-absorbing, wear-resisting, rubberized—Belflex now gives permanent chassis silence, diminishing wear at every point of the car.

WILLYS-KNIGHT
Great SIX

Bring your present car to us for valuation. An unusually active demand during the past 30 days has reduced our used-car stocks. For this reason, special provision has been made to accept good used cars as part payment on all Christmas purchases of new Willys-Knight Great Sixes... The Willys Finance Plan offers unusually attractive credit terms.

Entry Into Inner Circle Counts in Capital Society

Anybody in Congressional Directory Can Get into Big Affairs, Is Claim

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Washington society doings opened with a [illegible] simultaneously with the con[illegible] congress.

[illegible] and politics in the national capital are considerably mixed.

MRS. CHARLES DAWES

Many a legislator's, many an official's good will is won, in behalf of policies or measures he wouldn't otherwise favor, by a little social taffy which he doesn't care so much for, maybe, but for which his women folk have an inordinate fondness.

It isn't the big blow-outs that [illegible] can get invitations to [illegible] formal functions. A [illegible] reception is about as public [illegible] lobby of the Union Depot. [illegible] secretaries make up the guest [illegible] strays out of the Congressional Directory.

[illegible] to the inner circle—to the [illegible] parties, dinners, teas and [illegible] only a dozen or so of the [illegible] in attendance—that's [illegible].

CONGRESSMAN and Mrs. So-and-So [illegible] at the White House today.

[illegible] of the Treasury Mellon [illegible] small party at dinner last [illegible]. The guests were——

The following were entertained over the week-end on the presidential yacht Mayflower——

At a small party at the home of Speaker and Mrs. Longworth yesterday the company included——

To get your name into an occasional paragraph such as any one of these, in the society columns of the Washington newspapers is what sets the seal of gentility upon your reputation among the capital's socially elect.

HOW much weight President Coolidge places upon social considerations may be judged from the fact that he refused to permit the White House to be under repairs this winter, though competent engineers warned him that there really is serious danger that the roof may fall in on him.

He'd take his chance until congress adjourns, he decided, rather than go into temporary quarters, where the atmosphere of the executive mansion would be lacking from the senatorial breakfasts, the luncheons to prominent visitors and the dinners to leading statesmen and their wives which he plans for the current "season."

Nobody ever accused the present president of being a social butterfly from any choice of his own, but he can flutter a bit—as a moth, anyway—for political advantage.

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES will do some formidable fluttering. He has presidential aspirations. He needs all the friends he can make, among the party leaders. There's no better way of making them than over his own dinner table.

Speaker Longworth has presidential aspirations, too, and he and his wife are great entertainers. They don't entertain ostentatiously, but they entertain with unsurpassed elegance and are ultra-exclusive. An invitation to the Longworths' is regarded as a tremendous asset—social and political. They may not be quite so exclusive this winter as hitherto. At any rate, they moved into a larger house some time ago, in a nobbier quarter than previously.

Secretary of State Kellogg, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover are noted for their small but swell parties.

It's very classy to have the entree to the larger embassies.

Even Washington's unofficial society is semi-political. Not many families in the upper register live here which haven't political interests. At all events, they like to mingle, on terms of equality, with the political big guns' families.

The social "season" promises to be unusually lively in Washington. There are signs of an exceptionally exciting session of congress. The latter generally means the former. When votes are needed, on the "hill," those who need them hold that there's no surer way of winning them than by means of social attentions to the individuals who'll cast them—and their women folk.

Zellner is pictured in the circle above, and grouped about him are pictures of his various impersonations. His transformations are swift and complete, so that he seems to pass from one character to another with scarcely a moment's loss.

American Railway Express Co. Prepared for Greatest Christmas Rush in Years

Heavy Holiday Shipments Expected To Start Next Week; Agent E. J. Saiter Issues Instructions in Preparing Packages To Withstand Rush

The local office of the American Railway Express Co. is prepared for the biggest Christmas shipment rush of recent years and will probably get the first taste of the rush next week. A few packages to far away points are already being shipped but the bulk of the traffic will get under way the fore part of the week.

A few days ago, Agent E. J. Saiter of the Express company gave instructions concerning the proper wrapping and preparing of the packages before being sent out and the first few received have shown results of this warning.

"A package well wrapped and clearly addressed is half way to its destination," Mr. Saiter said. "And this will prove true during the coming rush. If instructions are followed and care is taken in preparing the package for its destination, it is certain to get there. If it is carelessly wrapped, and the address is scribbled, the company should not be held responsible for delay in delivery.

The rush of incoming and outgoing shipments will continue until Christmas with a few of the usual packages sent the day before Christmas from a place a few hundred miles away arriving here the day after the big holiday.

Poultry Shipments

Poultry shipments through Marion over the Big Four and Erie have been heavier than usual during the last few weeks, according to local reports.

The shipments come from western and southwestern communities, going east to Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and other large cities.

1,839 New Locomotives

Class A railroads of this country during the first 10 months of this year, installed 1,839 locomotives, according to a report received here today. The word was received from the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association.

This was an increase of 317 locomotives over the number installed during the corresponding period last year and 69 over the number installed the corresponding period of the preceding year.

Freight cars installed in service the first ten months this year totaled 93,979, a decrease of 25,261 under the corresponding period last year.

These figures as to freight cars and locomotives include new and leased equipment.

Gas Car On Again

The gas car of the Erie Railroad making the trip between Huntington, Ind., and this city, has been repaired and is again on the run after an absence as the result of a "break down" several days ago.

When the car broke down, passengers were carried to their destination by a regular train.

BODY OF DANA W. PARK TO ARRIVE HERE SUNDAY

Former Marion Man Dies of Tuberculosis in Tucson, Ariz.

The body of Dana W. Park, former resident of this city will arrive here at 8:50 Sunday night from Tucson, Ariz., where he had resided for the last 15 months. Mr. Park died Wednesday night of tuberculosis. The body will be taken to the funeral home of the C. E. Curtis & Co., where funeral services will be held probably Tuesday.

Mr. Park was about 37 years of age and was a World War Veteran, serving for most time overseas. He was a member of an American Legion Post in Kentucky, where he spent about two years before going to Arizona, and of the Eagles Lodge, this city.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Bertha Park, who will accompany the body, his mother, Mrs. Hester Orth, Avondale-av., this city; four sisters Miss Alva Orth, of Dayton; Mrs. Bertha Warwick, N. Prospect-st, Miss Marie Orth, Avondale-av., and three brothers, Verral Orth, of Pittsburgh; Ralph Orth, of Dayton and George Orth, at home.

PHONOGRAPH IS AS POPULAR AS RADIO, CLAIM

Local Dealer Says Talking Machines Again in Demand After Slump

Reports that the phonograph business has been handed a knockout blow by radio or that it has been even received a noticeable jolt from its formidable competitor are all wrong, according to O. H. Boyd, president and general manager of the H. Ackerman Piano Co. of S. Main-st, Marion's largest musical instrument concern.

Mr. Boyd speaks without prejudice or bias, for his company handles both phonograph and radio equipment. And right at this time, he says, the Ackerman Co. has on hand the largest stock of phonographs in its history. Not old stock that has waited in vain for purchasers but practically all new instruments brought in to supply holiday trade.

Others Agree

The same information regarding the present health of the talking machine trade comes from other local dealers, who say that orders are just as plentiful as ever and that there is every indication that phonographs are going to increase in popularity.

It is a fact, Mr. Boyd admits, that there was a considerable slump in the demand for phonographs about a year ago but this was not permitted to continue for any considerable period. Inventors and other experts employed at the factories were busy long before the decline came, working on improvements which would meet radio competition.

American genius has never failed in any emergency of this kind and it did not fail in its mission of bringing the talking machine back into its own.

New System

The most notable achievement was perfecting of a new method of making records. Strangely enough, this was accomplished with the aid of radio. The best records are now made by what is known as the electrical recording process, in which the radio microphone is used. The new records, now adopted for practically all of the standard types of phonographs, are said to be a remarkable improvement over the old style, which were made by direct transmission of sound through a horn.

Amazing Clearness

The electrically made record produces tones of amazing clearness and volume, being so distinct that in orchestra numbers it is possible to plainly hear the notes from each separate instrument.

While the competition between radio and phonograph is expected to continue, the two are also to become twin products on a large scale, Mr. Boyd says. Factories are already turning out combination radio and phonograph instruments which are finding a ready market.

General belief that the phonograph business was almost on its last legs became prevalent when the Victor Co. last year failed to pay a dividend for the first time in many years. That was before the electrical recording process other improvements were perfected. Since then, it is stated, the Victor Co. has greatly increased production and is having difficulty in filling orders.

CITY SCHOOLS PLANNING CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS

All Buildings To Present Special Entertainments Before Holiday Vacation

Christmas programs for all the schools are in the making now. Faculty committees are getting together and preparing programs for the various buildings.

Practice sessions in singing Christmas carols have been held recently at the Junior High Schools, and these will form a large part of the programs in all the schools.

The Christmas programs this year will be given on Friday, Dec. 17, the last day of the schools before the close for the holiday vacation. The vacation will last until Monday, Jan. 3. At Central Junior High School club programs will be given at chapel exercises on next Wednesday, and on Friday the chapel will consist of the Christmas program.

At Harding High School the program will be divided, as usual, one group meeting in the east hall, and the other group in the west hall.

In the grade schools, where possible, assembly programs will be given, and in other schools individual rooms will have separate programs.

TWO MINISTERS ADDRESS HARDING HIGH CHAPEL

Rev. C. L. Allen and Rev. A. W. Swan Speak to School Students

Two local ministers addressed the groups of students at Harding High School chapel exercises yesterday morning.

Before one group Rev. C. L. Allen, pastor of Calvary Evangelical Church, talked on the qualities necessary for development of the three elements of character.

To the other group Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church, talked on the debt of gratitude present day students owe to the homes, the schools and the state for the many advantages they offer. He contrasted present conditions with those of the past.

The next chapel at the High School will be the Christmas program to be held Friday, Dec. 17.

UNIFORM SIGNAL NEED EMPHASIZED IN COURT

Cleveland Man Drives in Marion According to Rules of His City

Urgent need of uniform traffic regulations throughout the country was emphasized in the court of Mayor Earl M. Hazen, yesterday, when Aaron Silberberg, 22, a resident of Cleveland, was arraigned on a charge of having violated the local the traffic code.

Silberberg was arrested at the intersection of Main and Center-sts, Thursday night, when he failed to pass the traffic light according to rules in force here. Instead of circling out to his right and stopping his car to wait for the "go" signal before turning north on Main-st, Silberberg cut across the thoroughfare in front of the signal standard.

Follows Rule

The Cleveland man admitted that he followed this course but informed the mayor that he did so because it is the rule in effect in Cleveland.

In consideration of this explanation, Mayor Hazen dismissed the case and returned to Silberberg $5 which he had deposited as a cash bond at the time of his arrest.

The mayor and local police say that the local traffic rules are frequently violated by tourists who are not familiar with regulations here and that no penalties are ever imposed where it is certain that the violations are unintentional.

This difficulty will never be eliminated, local officials delare, until all towns and cities adopt a universal set of rules.

THREE RATES IN SIX DIVISIONS ARE REDUCED

Two Increased, One the Same in Group Local Property Owners Pay

[illegible]ctions in three of the divisions [illegible] Marion city tax rate, an increase [illegible] division and the same rate as [illegible] in the other two divisions are [illegible] of the rate which Marion property owners will pay this year.

The rate which Marion citizens pay [illegible] up into six divisions, and the [illegible] from these divisions of the [illegible] is allotted to various departments of schools and government. The [illegible] takes one portion of the revenue [illegible] state government and another [illegible] for local schools. The county [illegible] another portion, the city schools [illegible] fourth, the township the fifth portion and the city government takes the [illegible].

[illegible] in the city school rate is [illegible] the tax rate for this year. The [illegible] portion of the tax rate goes [illegible] $6.135 per thousand to $6.44 per [illegible] this year.

[illegible] decreases in rate from last year [illegible] the county rate, which drops [illegible] $5.14 in 1925 to $4.72 per thousand this year, the township rate, [illegible] drops from $.078 to $.075 per [illegible] this year, and the city rate [illegible] drops from $9.635 to $9.565 this [illegible].

[illegible] city rate was fixed after the [illegible] budget commission lopped several [illegible] amounts off the budget turned in by the city officials. The city [illegible] a total of $482,623.89, according [illegible] the rate figured on a duplicate [illegible] approximately $51,090,000. The [illegible] for nearly $150,000 more [illegible]. Several cuts were made by [illegible] budget commission in taking up the city rate. The general fund suffered a 50 per cent cut, being dropped from $30,000 to $15,000. Other funds suffered also. The city officials were not sure how much would be required to run the municipal court, which is a new department of the city, starting Jan. 1. Funds amounting to $8,800 were asked to finance this court for the first year, and this was cut by the county budget commission.

SOME of them, it is true, have made money. The seven greatest sugar fortunes made in Hawaii all belonged to descendants of intelligent missionaries.

But what is there wrong about saving the souls of heathens and making a fortune, honestly, at the same time? One, or ten, talents should not be buried. The Bible says so.

TAKE STEPS TO RELIEVE CHAOS IN BROADCASTING

Washington, Dec. 6—Without awaiting action by congress, the administration today took steps to relieve chaos in radio broadcasting.

The commerce department ordered suspended temporarily issuance of broadcasting licenses. This action was taken under authority of a resolution adopted at the last session of congress, but not signed by President Coolidge until last Wednesday.

TEMPORARILY ABANDON SEARCH FOR BOY'S BODY

Crystal Lake Surface Entirely Frozen and Covered with Snow

City and county officers, headed by Chief of Police Thompson, Fire Chief McFarland and Sheriff Deal, who have been investigating the disappearance of Carlton Virden, 18-year-old Business College student, today temporarily abandoned their search for the boy's body at Crystal Lake, where he is supposed to have committed suicide more than a week ago.

The search will be resumed tomorrow, provided continued cold weather does not result in ice on the lake becoming too solid to permit use of ropes and hooks in dragging the lake bottom.

All yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Thompson and one of his men worked in a futile attempt to find some trace of the body. This morning ice had again frozen over the northwest corner of the lake, where the boy's cap was found several days ago, and officers decided to suspend operations for the time being.

The entire lake is frozen over and the ice is now covered with snow, removing all possibility of seeing the body in case it has floated to the surface.

POSTOFFICE TO ADD NINE TO FORCE OVER HOLIDAYS

Extra Help Will Be Employed for Period of Five or Six Days

The postoffice force of regular clerks and carriers will be augmented over the holiday rush by nine substitute clerks and carriers. They will be employed for about a week, when the rush is at its peak, to help keep the postoffice clear of the incoming and outgoing rush of Christmas mail.

This is in accordance with the custom of the postal department to add enough men to handle the Christmas rush. The extra men will be distributed to the various departments affected by the rush. The substitutes will be called from the eligible list of applicants for jobs, as far as this list will fill them, and after it is exhausted other men will be hired.

This extra help will be employed for a period of five or six days. They will be ordered to report between Dec. 15 and Dec. 20.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT

COURT JOB

He asserts that he had discussed the matter with several members of Council and had been practically assured that his list of appointments and the salary scale favored by him would be approved.

He indicated today that he plans making no formal protest but will revise his organization program and prepare to conduct the court as efficiently as possible with the curtailed force of assistants.

"We will be tremendously handicapped but will do the best we can," he states.

Martin's Plans

The judge-elect says that when the court begins to receive revenue from its operations, he will insist that the money be used for additional assistants as they are needed. Council members in reporting the results of their Wednesday night conference, indicated that they will agree to this arrangement.

Mr. Martin anticipates that with only a clerk, bookkeeper and one bailiff to handle the routine work of the court, Council will soon find employment of additional help absolutely imperative. He asserts that the Municipal Court will handle more business than the Common Pleas court and calls attention to the fact that 12 persons are employed to take care of the county tribunal's proceedings. These 12 include the County Clerk, Sheriff, Prosecutor and their assistants, Court Stenographer and bailiff.

The most serious difficulties, the judge-elect predicts, will be experienced at the beginning of the court's operation. He believes that after about six months the tribunal will be self-sustaining and that he will then be in position to employ an adequate force of assistants.

Hold Conference

Martin and Justice were in conference today discussing changes in plans necessitated by Council's failure to approve the original clerk-hire program. While Justice indicates that he will not alter his decision to refuse the clerkship at the salary designated, he will assist the judge-elect in every way possible.

Martin was particularly desirous of having Justice take the clerkship because of his long experience and thorough familiarity with court procedure.

HEALTH SEAL SALE UP TO $841, LATEST REPORT

Amount Includes Purchases by Mail and Personal Contributions

A total of $841 was reported today in returns from the annual Christmas Health Seal Sale, sponsored in Marion by members of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, by Mrs. John McNamara, health chairman.

This amount includes mail sales, personal distributions and one club report. While the mail sales have been somewhat slow it is hoped that by Monday nearly half of Marion County's quota will have been reached, Mrs. McNamara stated today. A plea has been made for early mailing in order to get the sale well out of the way before the Christmas rush.

A shortage in the sale of Marion's quota would mean a curtailment of the health program in the city schools this year, which is sponsored by members of the federation.

MINSTREL CAST READY FOR OPENING MONDAY

The cast is in readiness for the opening performance of the minstrel show to be put on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week under the auspices of members of the Elks' Lodge. The musical numbers are catchy and tuneful and the comedy sketches, monologues and dance numbers are new and entertaining.

Proceeds of the three nights' performances will go to the Elks' Children's party which is an annual affair and one of the big charity events of the year. Scores of youngsters are guests of the club at a big party when gifts are distributed in the clubrooms Christmas morning.

VERNON HEIGHTS JUNIOR HIGH HOLDS SUPPER

Mrs. Earl Johnson, chairman of the social committee of the Vernon Heights Community Club, and Mrs. Pearl Schweinfurth, chairman of the ways and means committee, were in charge of a cafeteria supper served last night at Vernon Heights Junior High School as a means of raising an improvement fund for the school. There was an exceptionally good attendance.

Features of the entertainment were specialty numbers by various students of the school, including a musical program given by members of the Chanteuses Club, a young girls' singing organization as well as a fish pond and guest table, where favors might be obtained.

SOLDIERS WIN

Virtual Victory In Poison Gas Treaty Protocol Conceded

Washington, Dec. 11—The soldiers' bloc in the senate was conceded a virtual victory today when Republican leaders admitted that the poison gas treaty protocol, signed by 30 nations in Geneva in 1925, will undoubtedly be sent back to a pigeonhole in the foreign relations committee.

By every indication, the bloc will carry out its announced intention to move for the return of the pact to the committee Monday. A poll showed enough votes to pass the motion. This action by the senate would leave the treaty not only dangling so far as the United States is concerned, but would also tie up its position among the 29 other nations which signed it in Geneva. Under its own terms, it fails unless every signatory nation ratifies it.

APPLIANCE COMPANY TO MOVE TO NEW LOCATION

Will Take Over Quarters Formerly Occupied by H. Schaffner Co.

The Marion Electrical Appliance Co. will move shortly before the first of January from its present location, 120 S. State-st, to the building at 188 S. Main-st, occupied for many years by the H. Schaffner Co., R. I. Ullmer, the manager, announced today.

Mr. Ullmer's company will use the front part of the first floor room of the Schaffner building and all of the third floor. The company deals in all classes of electrical equipment, radio supplies and the Easy automatic washer. It has been in business at the present location since being organized three years ago.

The Schaffner building rooms have been leased for five years.

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW LIBRARY HEATING PLANT

T. M. Cunningham Awarded Work on Bid of $677; Building Closed

Contract for installing a new boiler in connection with the heating plant of the Public Library building was awarded last night by the board of library trustees to T. M. Cunningham, local plumber, on his bid of $677.

Mr. Cunningham and a force of workmen started today tearing out the old boiler and the new one will be installed next week. The library will be closed for several days during the progress of the work.

Mr. Cunningham submitted the lowest of five bids received by the board. Other bidders were Peacock Bros., Probst Bros., N. R. Hildreth and G. P. Lawrence.

The old boiler has been in service since the library was constructed, 18 years ago.

The board meeting was held in the office of J. D. Williamson, one of the members, in the National City Bank & Trust Co. building.

Opportunity sometimes doesn't knock, but is a wicked old counselor who whispers in your ear.

It is a sad moment when a man decides not to try to be rich, but to turn all his efforts toward preventing anyone else from becoming so.

More Than a Thousand Questionnaires Have Already Been Returned

Perhaps half of them have been voted straight "Yes," many having a footnote added something like this: "WE LIKE THE STAR JUST AS IT IS."

The "Straight Ticket" as a vote of confidence is fine, but we should much prefer that you vote "Yes" only on those features you really like.

If you have mislaid your questionnaire or if the carrier did not deliver one to you, please fill in this one and hand it to your carrier or mail it to us.

We are spending considerable time and effort and at quite a cost in money, to make the Star as nearly a 100 per cent home newspaper as it is possible to do.

We appreciate the kindness of those who have cooperated with us and we shall appreciate yours, too

Questionnaires unsigned are not given any consideration.

Daily Proverb—"A blind man leaned against a wall. 'This is the boundary of the world,' he said."

Off hand, we assume that the coloring of young Mr. Doheny's brown satchel black was merely a bit of newspaper license.

Having made the great majority of our Christmas purchases, we can not do other than admire the genius responsible for the setting of "Thrift" week so soon after the great holiday.

Governor Gif. Pinchot hasn't receded the fraction of an inch from his position that any man who gives up more than $250,000 for a seat in the senate is an enemy to good government and a menace to all that is highest and best in American citizenship.

Expert Testimony.

To say that we have great esteem for Herbert Hoover as an observer of economic conditions will hardly carry any element of surprise to our readers. We are frank to say that we believe him to be closer to the actual industrial, business and working conditions of the country than any man in public life today. Having such regard for his observations on and conclusions regarding such conditions, it is pleasing to us to note in his annual report as secretary of commerce that he is squarely in line with a position we have long held regarding the relative merit of government and private operation. We do not wish to be taken as holding out that we first proclaimed this view, for nothing is further from the fact, but we do mean that we have been constantly consistent in this view while many papers from time to time have wandered from it.

Speaking of the operation of the railroads, Secretary Hoover says:

"It is an interesting commentary on government operation that private enterprise has been able to operate the railroads with far fewer employes and at the same time load fifteen per cent. more cars than the government administration. In 1920, the last year of government operation, the total number of employes rose to 1,990,000, as compared with 1,783,000 in 1925."

We might quote the secretary further, but the foregoing will cover the case, as it possibly strikes as near the average difference between the efficiency of government and private operation as any conclusion yet offered.

We have never contended, and do not now, that the cost of government operation must be higher and the efficiency less than would be the case with private operation, but we do mean that such has been the case in the past, is now and every will be until the millennium comes and human nature is universally a dependable factor for good, and the sooner the advocates of government ownership and management recognize this fact, the better it will be for the country.

The Joy of Living.

When yet a youth, Joseph D. Donovan told his companions in the New York Central shops at Harmon, New York, where he was employed as a machinist, that he would make a million dollars by the time he was forty-five and retire. His remark was called out by seeing a wealthy man, feeble with the weight of years, enroute to his office.

Donovan's philosophy was that few people were sharp enough to know how so to live as to give themselves opportunity to enjoy life. As he expressed it when he had accumulated his million, it was this:

"There comes a time in the life of every successful business man when he reaches the corner of Easy street. There is the temptation to turn off Main street with all its allurements. But few men have studied conditions far enough ahead to be able to make the decision.

"One may turn off at the corner, and, after a time, if he does not like traveling on the new street, he may come back to the main traveled highway. On the other hand, the great majority pass by the corner, and then they find they are carried along by the congested traffic and never are able to turn around or get to Easy street by another route."

Donovan adhered to his program. He entered the automobile business and cut quite a figure in the selling end of it in Boston. He made his million before he was forty-five and, having attained that age, disposed of his business the first day of the present year and retired to live on Easy street. But his residence on that coveted thoroughfare was of short duration—less than a year. He died last Monday.

Donovan's thought, that too many people become so engrossed in and wedded to Main street that they are unable to turn off onto Easy, was good, but his philosophy regarding the manner in which to live and get the most out of life was decidedly faulty. He made the mistake which has been made by thousands here, there and everywhere; the mistake to which we have at diverse times called attention; the mistake which has been made by dozens here at home known to all of us; the mistake of not taking into consideration the possibility of sickness and death. We may labor and accumulate riches with the thought in mind of retiring and enjoying life when we reach a certain age or become possessed of the worldly goods we deem sufficient to carry us through our declining years, and often we become engrossed in this pursuit of riches to the exclusion of everything else. We give up present joys and pleasures for those we hope to experience in the future. The proposition is all right if it works, but far too often it is the case that our own lack of health or that of our loved ones or death intervenes. There is always, too, the danger that we may work so hard that we forget how to play; that the life to which we looked forward when we would retire and live on Easy street has no appeal and becomes a bore.

There is but one way to live if we hope to enjoy life to the utmost and that is to live clean, decent lives and get our joys and pleasures from day to day. Some may get pleasure from their work, some from travel, some from reading, some from this, that and the other source, and some from all combined. Our tastes are not alike, but the most of us who have passed beyond the meridian of life and look backward know that there are but few pleasures, remembrance of which come to us, not associated with clean living, and home life, and good neighbors and friends; and we can not afford to sidetrack any of these for future enjoyment, no matter how bright our dreams of such enjoyment may be.

To get the utmost out of life, we must live it from day to day.

It is hardly probable that elections will ever attain marked popularity with the public so long as it is asked to give up three months out of each twelve to be educated by spellbinders, printed propaganda and personal calls by candidates to exercise the right of suffrage intelligently.

Chicago's defense to the pollution of river waters and the stealing of water from the Great lakes is that she is no worse than Cleveland or Erie. Evidently she figures that two wrongs make her right.

"The more I think the thing over," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning, "the more I am convinced that the poison which did the business was in the punch served by Gene Tunney."

Then, too, we will have to say this for Mr. Mussolini; he's sharp enough to know that a man can not do a successful job of dictating by giving his orders from under the bed.

"We have been educated to a point where we appreciate the fact that the ankle extends upward pretty much toward the knee," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today, "and now I note a tendency in the knee-length skirts to reach upward quite noticeably toward the hip."

The way Germany is meeting her obligations under the operation of the Dawes plan might be taken by a number of European nations as a pointer to get rid of their diplomats and statesmen and retain the services of some good practical business man.

If the Great lakes are being polluted by Cleveland and Erie as the Chicago papers hold it should not mean that Chicago's offending should be forgiven her, but rather that the offending of the three of them should be stopped.

The Hon. Gifford Pinchot chides Philadelphians, telling them they submit to political gang tyranny. Now, we assume, were they to submit to gubernatorial dictation, which is a form of tyranny, that would be a horse of a different color.

It's just possible that the reason why we have not had a congressional reapportionment as prescribed by law, is that congress recognizes the fact that any law tending to increase the size of the lower house is bound to be unpopular and that it is the present-day trend to permit unpopular laws to go unenforced.

THE CHRISTMAS ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS SEAL: "BUY ME AND MAKE SOME UNFORTUNATE A CHRISTMAS GIFT OF GOOD HEALTH."

Some Ways To Woo Sleep.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

All disturbances of the kidneys and bladder are disagreeable, and more or less serious. Not all of them are painful, but some are exceedingly so. A very common symptom is frequent desire to urinate.

The behavior of the bladder varies with the individual. Some people can go to bed and sleep twelve hours without the slightest annoyance. There may be no call for relief until the night's rest is complete.

On the contrary, there are thousands of men and women who can not sleep a single hour without an irresistible demand to urinate. It is a genuine appeal and must be obeyed.

In some cases there will be but a few drops of urine. In others there will be a perfect flood.

We speak of this condition as "bladder irritability." It is well named, because the phrase is derived from a Latin word meaning "to tease." The demand to urinate is a teasing, irritating, annoying symptom.

In men, particularly old men, the trouble may be traced to an enlarged prostate; the organ presses on the bladder and produces constant irritation. This causes the urging to urinate.

Sometimes there is such interference with the escape of the urine that it is dammed up in the bladder. It is only the overflow which escapes. Since the bladder is already filled, there will be a call to urinate almost as soon as the urine passes from the kidney into the bladder. This is what happens, or else the urine constantly dribbles away.

In women there may be displacement or disturbance of the generative organs, producing pressure upon the congestion of the bladder. Then there will be frequent calls to urinate. Constipation produces similar symptoms.

Nervousness is a common cause for bladder irritability. Very nervous women have this symptom.

The acidity of the urine has a relationship to this trouble. Excessive acidity produces irritation.

Acidity of the urine may be caused by eating wrong foods. Such cases require attention to the diet. Articles must be excluded which tend to aggravate the trouble.

In every case of bladder irritability the physician is aided by an accurate record of the symptoms. If the cause can be traced and removed there is no trouble to overcome the disability. If it is founded on disease of neighboring organs it is a more difficult accomplishment.

Copious water drinking before retiring should be avoided. Plenty of water should be given, of course, but it can be taken in the daytime.

The rectal condition must be corrected. By right eating, constipation may be overcome, and this in itself will be helpful in relieving the bladder irritability.

The bed-room should be cool and well ventilated. It is a mistake to be too warmly covered at night. Everything which promotes the comfort and sleeping conditions will help to overcome the bladder disturbance.

Sauces, salads, spices, pickles, rhubarb, tomatoes and asparagus should be avoided for the time being. By a little experimentation it will be possible to find and exclude the offending article of food.

The family doctor will examine and determine what should be done to correct the associated condition which may be responsible for the annoying and health-disturbing symptom.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. M. Q—What causes my back to be sore, especially in the morning? I can hardly put my clothes on.

A—Probably due to a strain or lumbago. Massage and application of heat should give relief. If not, strapping is often effective. See your doctor.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Are Christmas carols sung in many American cities? T. M.

A. The old custom of singing carols in the streets was revived in 1917. In 1918, thirty cities cooperated. It is expected that carols will be sung this Christmas eve on the streets, in the parks, as well as in the churches, schools and public institutions of about 1,500 communities.

Q. What is the record for the number of apples picked in a day by one man? A. J. M.

A. The Rural New Yorker says that "the quantity picked per day will depend largely on the character of the three, whether high or low headed; how heavily the tree may be loaded; the kind of apples, small or large; how well the job is done. We have heard of men picking fifty barrels, but both fruit and trees are sure to be damaged by such slam-bang work. One of the best commercial growers we know insists that an average of ten or twelve barrels per day per man is enough. It is not a matter of clawing off the apples as fast as possible, but working so that there will be a minimum of bruised fruit broken twigs and limbs."

Q. What are the three largest kinds of dogs? W. M.

A. The bureau of animal industry says that the three largest breeds of dogs are St. Bernards, mastiffs and Irish wolfhounds. The largest dog of which it has record is Bally Shanon, an Irish wolfhound size 180 pounds, owned by Mrs. Glenn Stewart, of Easton, Maryland.

Q. Was Hawkeye, hero of Cooper's "Last of the Mohicans," an Indian or a white man? C. G.

A. Hawkeye, whose other name was Natty Bumpo, was a backwoodsman. He was not an Indian.

Q. What kind of material is made at the lowest expense? E. C. M.

A. No material is manufactured at a smaller cost than gunny. It is a strong, coarse sackcloth manufactured chiefly in Bengal from jute, but to some extent also in Bombay and Madras from sunn hemp. It is also manufactured in Dundee, Scotland, from jute imported from Bengal, and in a small way of late years in the United States. The weaving of gunny is a great domestic industry in India. It gives occupation to men, women and children. Boatmen employ themselves weaving in their spare moments as do farmers, carriers and even domestic servants. The weaving is performed upon the rudest kind of loom, consisting merely of a few sticks and poles fastened together with twine.

Q. Is the population of the world increasing or decreasing? A. C. T.

A. Sir Daniel Hall, English scientist, estimates that the population of the world is increasing at the rate of 5,000,000 a year.

Q. What is blue water gas? H. H.

A. Blue water gas is a gas formed by the reaction of steam on live coals. It is used for city gas, but ordinarily is enriched with oil gas.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

It is pleasant to find that examples of high courage are sought out and properly noted by the United States government. Mrs. Edward A. In and on her automobile Mrs. Brown carried fourteen persons to safety.

After all, the human being doesn't have everything in the way of equipment. The drone bee has 13,800 eyes. Even some less important bees have about 5,000 eyes. Who's Who and Why.

GENERAL TASKER H. BLISS

General Tasker Howard Bliss began his army services as a lieutenant in the Indian campaigns of the seventies and ended them as a member of the American peace commission at Paris in 1919. The interim was well crowded with interesting events chief among which was his appointment as chief of staff of the United States army in September, 1917. A month later the rank of general was added to the honor although he was forced to retire at the close of the year because of the law on age limits. He was continued on active duty by order of the president, however, and served on the supreme war council and later the peace commissions. He was born at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, December 31, 1853.

Vagrant Verse.

PROSE AND RHYME.

When the ways are heavy with mire and rut,
In November fogs, in December snows,
When the north wind howls, and the doors are shut—
There is place and enough for the pains of prose;
But whenever a scent from the whitethorn blows,
And the jasmine-stars at the casement climb,
And a Rosalind-face at the lattice shows,
Then hey!—for the ripple of laughing rhyme!

When the brain gets dry as an empty nut,
When the reason stands on its squarest toes,
When the mind—like a beard—has a "formal cut"—
There is place and enough for the pains of prose;
But whenever the May-blood stirs and glows,
And the young year draws to the "golden prime,"
And Sir Romeo sticks in his ear a rose—
Then hey!—for the ripple of laughing rhyme!

In a theme where the thoughts have a pedant-strut,
In changing quarrel of "Ayes" and "Noes,"
In a starched procession of "if" and "but"—
There is place and enough for the pains of prose;
But whenever a soft glance softer grows,
And the light hours dance to the trysting-time,
And the secret is told "that no one knows"—
Then hey!—for the ripple of laughing rhyme!

Envoy

In the work-a-day world—for its needs and woes,
There is place and enough for the pains of prose;
But whenever the May-bells clash and chime,
Then hey!—for the ripple of laughing rhyme!

FARM RESIDENCE IS DESTROYED IN NIGHT BLAZE

Broken Pump Delays Work of Galion Fire Department; Furniture Saved

Galion, Dec. 11—Fire completely destroyed the beautiful country home of C. J. Eichorn on the Winchester-rd., west of Galion last night. The blaze was first discovered about 8 o'clock, in the kitchen, of the home, and the Galion fire department immediatly [illegible]. The house could probably have been saved had not the pump on the largest city fire truck been out of commission. Plenty of water was available but the broken pump delayed aid until the fire was beyond control. The house, a twelve-room frame structure burned to the ground. Surrounding buildings and the furniture from the first floor were saved.

A defective chimney is thought to be responsible for the fire.

Eichorn's loss is heavy but the house and furnishings were partially insured. The house was located about three miles southwest of Galion and C. J. Eichorn and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eichorn resided there.

GREEN CAMP FARM CLUB SPONSORS SWINE COURSE

Three Months' Instruction Offered to All Farmers; Many Enrolled

Green Camp, Dec. 11—The Green Camp Young Men's Farming Club has decided to hold a short course in swine management during the next three months. Meetings will be held the first three Tuesday evenings of each month. The last Tuesday evening of the month will be reserved for the regular meetings of the Young Men's Farming Club. The short course meetings will not be limited to the farming club members but will be open to all interested farmers.

The first meeting will be held at the Green Camp School Building on Tuesday evening, Dec. 14 at 8. Following the meeting the members of the course will be allowed to use the school gymnasium to play basketball and volleyball. Quite a number of men have already signified their intentions of attending the course.

Instruction will be in charge of J. F. Johnson, instructor of vocational agriculture. The more important swine problems such as feeding, management, breeding, marketing and disease and parasite control will be included in the course. An effort will be made to make the work fit the needs of the group.

BREAKS LEG IN FALL FROM LOFT

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 11— Howard Wright sustained a broken leg when he fell from a hay loft, dropping onto a sheep rack Thursday night, at the Earnest McKinstry farm near Caledonia. Both bones in the left leg were broken and protruded through the flesh.

Wright is employed by T. V. Blair at Edison and had gone to the McKinstry farm for a load of straw, when the accident occurred.

Medical attention was given by Dr. Jackson. An x-ray picture of the fracture was taken yesterday morning.

MAGNETIC SPRINGS IS VICTOR OVER RICHWOOD

Game Is Battle from Start to Finish; Final Score Is 19-13

Richwood, Dec. 11—Richwood opened it's basketball season Friday night here with a loss to Magnetic Springs, 19-13. The game was a battle from start to finish with Magnetic having a slight edge over the Orange and the Black. All of the Magnetic boys were performers of last year while Richwood possesses only three letter men.

Hunt started the scoring for Richwood with two free throws. The game was evenly played during the first half until the last ten seconds when Drake caged a nice one from the center of the floor for Magnetic.

Sloop put Richwood in the lead for the first time early in the third period when he tossed the ball through the bucket from the middle of the floor. The Orange team was not once treatened during this quarter.

Magnetic staged a comeback in the third quarter and held Richwood to one single point while they themselves made five field goals.

Drake and Ballard were the bright lights for Magnetic, while LeMasters and Sloop shone for Richwood. Captain Bud Phelps displayed excellent floor work while Hunt and Webster shoed their stuff on the defense.

The girls basketball team was defeated also by the girls from the health resort. The girls basketball team is badly crippled this year having only one player left from last year's team, Captain Ethel Brown.

Richwood plays at New California next Friday night and a good game is expected. New California also has dropped one County game.

WAPAKONETA IS VICTOR OVER KENTON CAGERS

Wildcats Humbled by Clever Auglaize County Basketball Aggregation, 18-12

Kenton, Dec 11—The Kenton High School Wildcats lost their first basketball game of the season here Friday right to Bluem High of Wapakoneta by a score of 18 to 12.

The local cagers were completely outclassed from the very first minute of play by the veteran Wapakoneta outfit. The loss of Rubins earlier in the week from injuries sustained in a practice game resulted in the offensive of the Red and Whites being thrown off balance.

The first half found the visiting aggregation taking a big lead with Brunn, right forward, doing most of the scoring. The Wapak defense worked fine with the Kenton five being able to score but three points. Only one point was scored by the locals in the first quarter.

After the first half the locals found themselves cutting down the lead of the visitors. During the third quarter Wapak was held scoreless but Coach Burkett's cagers were unable to locate the basket. Enough easy shots were missed to have won the game by a large score.

In the last quarter the Red and White defense again cracked with Brunn going through for the most markers. Barker, a Red and White player who has been warming the bench with a broken collar bone, was the only Kenton player able to score with any success. He made two field goals.

Little difficulty was experienced by the local boys in holding down Wapakoneta's lanky center, Boesel. He was slated as a handy man under baskets but only scored one goal. Playing in mid-season form in their game of the season Wapak shows promise of being one of the strongest teams in the district and will have a fine chance to cop the basketball tourney here on March 7 and 6 in which Lima South, Lima Central, Kenton, Ada, Findlay and Van Wert will play.

Next Friday night the locals will play Carey on the armory floor here.

MARYSVILLE CONTRACTOR CHECK WORKER'S VICTIM

Cashes $200 Voucher To Get $20 Down Payment on Work

Marysville, Dec. 11—Louis Scheiderer, a carpenter and contractor of this city was fleeced out of about $200 yesterday when he endorsed a cashier's check, made out to Owen Gibbs, of Wapakoneta, for an amount of over $200. Every effort is being made by local authorities to apprehend the check worker, who has been working the same trick in a number of other Ohio cities. It is said that only a few days ago he pulled the same scheme on a Springfield man fleecing him out of a similar amount.

The man came into a local hardware store and asked to be informed where he might find a reliable person to construct a sign board for him. He was directed to Mr. Scheiderer and after giving specifications as to the size and style wanted was informed that the work would not be completed until January.

The stranger stated that he would make a down payment of $20 providing Mr. Scheiderer would endorse a cashier's check for him, which the latter did at the Bank of Marysville. On receiving the amount called for on the check, Mr. Scheiderer kept $20, as down payment for the sign and turned the rest over to the stranger who disappeared and has not been seen or heard of since.

ENGLISH BEAUTY FROWNS ON SMOKING

Before she became Lady Maxwell—wife of Lord Maxwell—Miss Nora Delaney of London and Dublin was one of the most noted beauties of the British Isles. As matron she retains her rank. She has not succumbed to the box and frowns upon smoking. A keen student of politics and an active party worker, she still has time for receptions at which one meets leaders of art and literature. Her home is a veritable museum of art treasures. This is Lady Maxwell's latest portrait.

Amateur Players' Society Scores Triumph at Galion

Galion, Dec. 11—The play was the thing in Galion last night when an appreciative audience witnessed the initial performance given by the Drama Workshop Players. Seven of the members of this organization were in the cast which successfully presented the three act comedy drama, "You and I." Beautiful stage settings and elaborate costumes added much to the affair which was proclaimed one of the best entertainments of its kind ever presented in Galion. This play was the first attempt of the organization but from the reception given them by their enthusiastic audience more productions are assured.

This latest achievement of Galion's younger set also is another triumph for Mrs. Loren Beck's ability as a director. For the last 12 years, Mrs. Beck has coached every class play given in the city but last night's enterprise was the masterpiece of her career.

The play was one of deep meaning, dramatic situations and above all a colorful picture of real life. It showed the trials and difficulties of the average American family and the disappointments and ambitions of a man who was a hopeless misfit—the happy, carefree life of the young people in the home and finally the splendid sacrifice of the parents for the son they loved.

The Players will present their next play some time in early February and will be sponsored by the Galion Federation of Women's Clubs. The group which presented "You and I" are making arrangements to give the play in nearby towns for the benefit of various organizations.

The cast included: Veronica Dunne, Margaret Bradfield; Roderick White, Ralph Everly; Nancy White, Miriam Sayre; Maitland White, Kenneth Zinn; Etta, Angeline Yochem; G. T. Warren, Robert Phipps; Geoffray Nichols, Rufus Eckstein.

IBERIA TEAMS LOSE TO GALION HIGH OUTFITS

Wearers of Orange and Blue Make Fine Showing in First Tilts

Galion, Dec. 11—Both girls' and boys' teams of Galion High School began their season of basketball with victories over Iberia teams, Friday night. Regarded as practice games, the contests served as a tryout for a number of players. All the members of the squad of both teams were taken to Iberia where the game was played and all had the chance of seeing service in the first test game.

The girls won 53 to 25 in the preliminary and simply ran away from the opposing team. Iberia was handicapped to some extent by the change of rules made this season. After a number of years playing regular boys' rules, girls' rules were instituted this year, and the Iberia players were not used to the restrictions nor skilled in the fine points of the game.

Ferguson, Amann, Capt. Cutshall, Riter, Hamburger and Krieter started the game for Galion.

The boys' game was exciting in the first half but the Galionites, displaying excellent team work during the last two quarters, easily won 37-18. Fans who witnessed the game are predicting a good league standing for Galion and are anxious to see the team play some first class basketeers.

The starting lineup—Zinn, guard; Hershner, center; Schlanberger, guard; Rensch, forward; Capt. Rhinehart, forward.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY MEETS AT SEITER HOME

Green Camp, Dec. 11—Wednesday afternoon the Ladies' Aid society of the Mt. Olive church enjoyed a meeting at the home of Mrs. Jacob Seiter. A Christmas exchange was a feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Nelta Burdette and daughter, Meeker were guests. Mrs. Seiter served lunch. The society will meet in January with Mrs. H. B. Schwaderer.

Sunday night at 7:30 the picture, "In His Steps" will be shown by Rev. R. C. Windhorst at the Reformed church west of town.

Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lauer entertained the Loyal Workers class of the Mt. Olive Sunday school at their home west of town. There were 42 present, including Miss Genevieve Corbin and Miss Winona Smith as class guests. The following class officers were elected for the new year: Roy Smeltzer, president; John Corbin, vice president; Mrs. Carl Corbin, secretary and Thoburn Carey, treasurer. Games, music and contests were enjoyed and a Christmas exchange was held. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Patton will entertain the class in January. Mrs. Lauer served lunch.

Mrs. A. F. Bricker who was operated on at City hospital, Marion, last week is getting along nicely.

CARS COLLIDE

Ford Roadster and Reo Speed Wagon Damaged In Crash

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 11—A Ford roadster, driven by Merlin Rhodebeck, a student in Mt. Gilead Junior High school, was completely demolished in a collision with a Reo speed wagon, last night at the corner of Main and Union-sts.

Rhodebeck was coming to Mt. Gilead from the east and just as he was about to turn onto Main-st the accident occurred. His car was driven across the street into a tree and was a total wreck. The Reo, which belonged to the Irving Mfg. Co., of Canton, turned around in the street and the right rear wheel was broken off.

Neither of the drivers was injured.

A man knows much better what to do with a half holiday than a whole one.

MARYSVILLE IS TRIUMPHANT IN INITIAL TILT

Red and Blue Basketeers Down Hardin County Class B Champions

Marysville, Dec. 11—The Red and Blue basketball five of Marysville High School last night defeated Mt. Victory High School, Class B champions of Hardin County in the first game of the season for the locals. Score was 24 to 17. Mt. Victory girls also went down in defeat before the local girls by an overwhelming score of 24 to 11.

In the boys' game, Mt. Victory got the jump on the locals and soon had marked up a 3 to 0 lead which was overcome by two field goals by Scheiderer, running guard and another by Simpson making the score 6 to 3 in favor of Marysville at the end of the quarter. Two baskets by Bump for Marysville and one each by Tropp and Williams made a score of 10 to 7 at the end of the half still in favor of the locals.

Mt. Victory threatened again in the third quarter when they gained a one-point lead over Marysville when Horne, left forward was left uncovered and made three baskets in about half a minute. Score at the end of the quarter was 12 to 13 in favor of the visitors. Marysville doubled their score in the last quarter with a basket each by Bump, Simpson and Scheiderer and two by "Big John" Geissler, left guard. The game ended with the tally reading 24 to 17 in favor for Marysville.

It would have been a difficult task to select stars from the Marysville lineup. Each player brought a great deal of comment from local fans and with a little more practice and experience Coach Kingsmore should develop a five that will stand up to par with any ever put on the floor by Marysville High School.

"Taulac" Laird, center and A. Scheiderer, veterans of last year, played their usual game, Geissler won the crowd when he dropped in two field goals from near the center of the floor in the space of a few moments, Simpson, Mader and Bump also played a good game for Marysville.

TWO delightful musical programs and one of the most important meetings of the year for members of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs are scheduled for the coming week. Members of the Marion Lecture-Recital Club will present their annual holiday program as a Christmas gift to musical lovers of the city, Monday evening at the First Presbyterian Church, and also will sponsor the appearance of the Oberlin Glee Club the evening of Dec. 18, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Josephine Peirce, of Lima, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will address members of the local federation at their regular meeting Thursday evening at the Community Home, S. High-st. This meeting will be one of the outstanding ones of the club year as it will include a discussion and tentative outline of plans for the annual state convention to be held here next May.

This week's social activities included a dance Wednesday night for members of the Wednesday Night Dancing Club, with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Brown chairmen of the committee. Last night Mrs. E. W. Boyer, S. Vine-st, entertained at four tables of bridge awards for scoring going to Mrs. William Fies and Mrs. Emil Sweney. Mrs. Frank Elliott, of Cleveland, was a guest. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer entertained at four tables of euchre, Monday night, awards for scoring going to Mrs. A. D. Fetty, Mrs. Ernest Phillians, A. M. Moore and F. M. McGammon.

MRS. CLARA TURPIN GRIMES of Dayton, and Morris Sager, student at the Cleveland Institute of Music, Cleveland, will be guests soloists for the program to be given Monday night by members of the Lecture-Recital Club at the First Presbyterian Church. The chorus numbers will be presented under the direction of Mrs. W. Watkins Johnson, director, and accompanists for the numbers will be Mrs. Harry T. Williams, Miss Alfreda Horn and Miss Helen Bever.

The program is the club's offering of the season and a cordial invitation is issued to those interested in music and the club and its activities to attend.

Mrs. Harry Williams will open the program with an organ number, "March Pontifical," Tombelle, followed by two chorus numbers, "Drama in Twilight," R. H. Woodman, and "Morning," Oley Speaks, by the chorus.

"The Shepherds at the Manger," Franz Liszt, will be played by Mrs. R. O. Bresler at the organ, Mrs. Helen Zuck Lacey, piano, Miss Clara Leffler, cello and Morris Sager, violin, and Mrs. Clara Turpin Grimes will sing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," from "The Messiah." Another number by Mrs. Williams will be "The Coming of the King" and "God Is Love," Shelley and "Praise Ye The Father," Gounod Bliss, will be given by the chorus.

Mr. Sager will play Mendelssohn's "Concerto," first movement, and Mrs. Clara Turpin Grimes will be heard in a group of three numbers, "Isle of Beauty," Watts, "The Bird with a Broken Wing," Florence Golson, and "God's Garden," Lemare. Members of the Junior Lecture-Recital club will jonclude the program with a group of Christmas carols.

Dad's Christmas Fruitless Efforts? We Pedestrians

BY EDNA DUTTON

PAPA and all the rest of the big boys will have the heroes of Arabian Nights' fame outclassed to a fade-out if the gentler sex see fit to let their fancy wander without restraint in choosing their Christmas gifts this year. It's a settled fact that women buy 90 per cent of the men's wear sold at this season, so men get set for a knockout, for the array of colors are dazzling to behold. A word to the wise is sufficient. If you come down stairs on that gladdest of glad days, spy a package and decide that some one has really used their head for something else than keeping their ears apart, and brought an awning for the porch next summer, take another look, some one in the family has only remembered that you needed a pair of new pajamas. If another box discloses an array of colors, rivaled only by a Ford getting back from a world cruise, don't get excited, it's only a nice new necktie, and by all means don't get all peeved up and think some one spiked the punch if you discovered a nice woolly bear grinning at you from another box, he's really only parking in one corner of a very smartish scarf.

I HAVE a most charming little friend who journeys afar in the realms of thrills, plotting, intrigue and romance, but usually the woodchopper arrives just in time or the swan turns suddenly into a prince charming, or something nice happens to leave a nice sugary taste in one's mouth at the end of the chapter. Not so good was her journey for what inkled of a real, honest-to-goodness story, one day this week. She fared forth, armed with a poke of most delectable fruit, for there's nothing like breaking bread or munching grapes off the same stem with some one to encourage speech, all set for conquest. The way was long and she grew somewhat weary but there was a goal and she finally reached it. But alas, grandma wasn't waiting all beruffled in lavendar and old lace with a few peppermints in her pocket, but was just recovering from a severe cold and was in no mood for reminiscing or indulging in a gabfest. Besides when she did feel like saying a word or two she preferred to address her neighbors. The offering was wafted to the nearby skullery by a helpful relative without the donor getting even a good smell and the only encouragement she received was that maybe some other day grandma would feel like talking.

She arrived back in the office about two hours later footsore and weary but able to chuckle with the rest on her first real set-back as a harvester of news. We all get it sooner or later, so you folk who believe that a reporter is next to an alarm clock, and the neighbor's radio, the biggest nuisance on earth, have a heart.

WE poor pedestrians are to come into our own if a new organization formed in the east gets any where at all. The society is to be known as a Pedestrians' union, and if all goes well we shall soon be able to cross the street other than hunched up like Red Grange breaking through the line. Of course, if I drove a car I probably would bemoan the fact that people seemed to think they had all day to cross the street, or thought that John D. had just made me a present of an oil station.

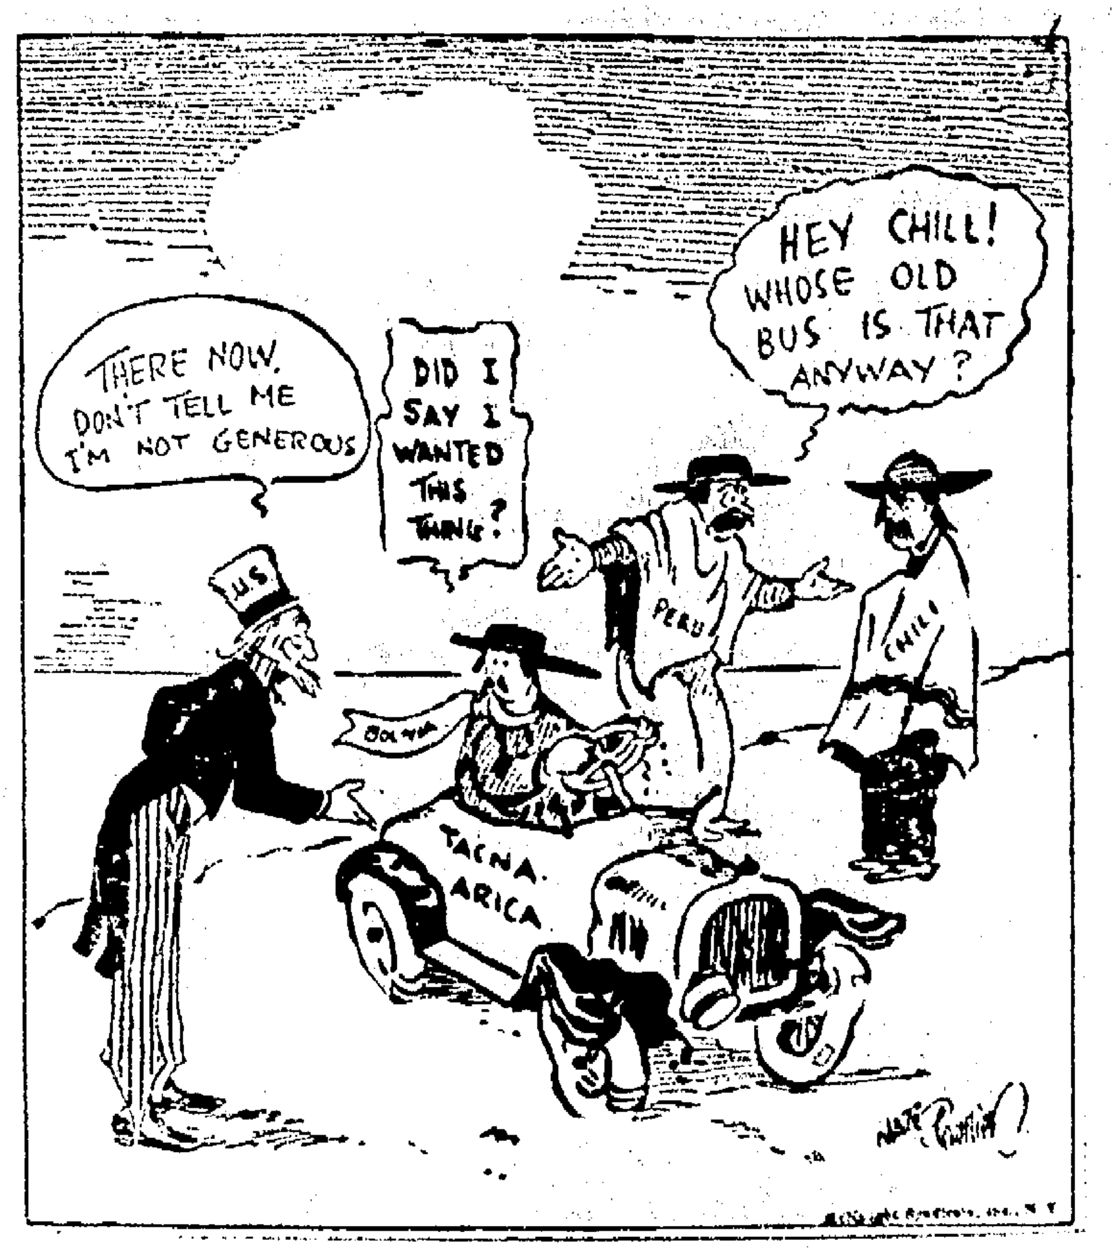
Tacna Arica Versus "Moro Promontory"—Will Rogers

Cowboy Says Kellogg Did It Up Brown

The Way Is Paved Now for Chinese Settlement; Follies Star Promses

BY WILL ROGERS



HEY CHILI! WHOSE OLD BUS IS THAT ANYWAY?
THERE NOW, DON'T TELL ME I'M NOT GENEROUS
DID I SAY I WANTED THIS THING?
U.S.
PERU
BOLIVIA
TACNA ARICA

But you can't force an old auto nobile upon a fellow!

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers every day. We ought to get some time for reading now that this Halls Mills murder is all set to the satisfaction of everybody. I really believe it is what drove Queen Marie, the "Harrowing Balkan," our of this country. When that Pig Woman got on the stand, why she grabbed two columns to every column Marie could get. The queen of the "bad balkans" couldn't start to compete in real interest with New Jersey's only female Agriculturist. When it got right down to Hogs versus Crowns, why America forgot its royalty worship and got back to hog raising and stuck with the hog. Then along come old "Willie" and he appeared as a witness where he was only supposed to open the show. He was only supposed to clown the show and he out-grossed 'em all by being the only sane one in New Jersey.

I been hitting a lot of the Cities out in the Corbmrator belt that was laid out for Marie, and I turned out to be their consolation prize. They had hats and Spats bought in Cleveland. They had gone so far as to start washing themselves. The mayor was practicing wearing a standing collar for ten minute stretches during the day. Now they all wonder if they can't put in a claim and see if they can't get the money back, not only for their outlay in clean shirts and clothes that they will never get to use again (unless they die), but they had had coaching by paid experts on how to act and they want reimbursement for that.

Aimee on Horizon

But the Hall Mills is over and the Queen is conniving on the native heath. But we won't get much of respite, for Aimee is going to open up the other barrell on us again. We will be back in the Desert in the heart of winter. I hope they get this "Static" fellow back for the next trial, as they just about used up all the pictures of Aimee there.

But you read in the papers a few days ago what we did down in Tacna, Arica. You know we went down there to settle a dispute between Chili and Peru over a piece of land that is between them and they have been arguing over it for 40 years. Well we stayed till they were both about to declare war on us, so we had to get out. Well everybody thought that certainly would be the end of it, but here the other day we bob up with a decision in the case. In other words after an Umpire hgd been kicked out of the game, he goes home and thinks it over and the next day issues his decision as to whether it was a ball or a strike.

Can You Beat It?

Well, Mr. Kellogg handed down one, and who do you think he give the disputed piece of ground to, Chili or Peru? Or do you think he divided it up equally? Or do you think he let one keep it one year and one the next, or one on sunshiny days, and one on cloudy days No' sir, he issued none of those commonplace ways of settling disputed Territory. (If you haven't read it I will give you 12 guesses to guess who's favor he decided in.) Why BOLIVIA'S. I knew you would be surprised. You will ask, "Why, what did Bolivia have to do with it?" Nothing. He said in his own statement that they hadn't been consulted in his decision at all, so they are going to be surprised to death when they hear that the United States has decided to deed them a big piece of Territory. They will say, "Where did the United States get a piece of Territory down here to give us?"

Why we got it from Peru and Chili as our consul fees for settling the dispute about it. Now Bolivia will say, "Why how does Kellogg know we will take it? It might be like a cotton farm down south. There is no law says you can give a man one of them and make him take it. (That's one thing our laws are just about. You can't force a farm or an old car on any man woman or child without their consent.)

Alphabetical Trick

Now Bolivia will say "I wonder how he happens to think of us. He started Alphabetically I guess and as the Bo's come ahead of the Br's he gave it to us instead of Brazil." He says, "it will make Bolivia a seaport, that they haven't got a seaport," and he thinks "every Nation nowadays should have at least one seaport," even if there is nothing to see but sea. By them having a seaport and no Navy to protect it, it gives other Nations a chance to come and take it any time they like. Then you see the way it was before with Bolivia having no Seaport we had never been able to land Marines there. It had been the one Country down there where we couldent get to with our Marines. So now we are all set. Any time there is a Revolution in Bolivia, why we won't have to be just a long distance onlooker. We can go and get right in it. "But what about Chili and Peru? Did he do anything about paying them anything for their rights?" Oh yes, he suggests that they establish the "Moro Promontory," under International control, as a Memorial to the valor of Peru and Chili, also the harbor to be crowned with a "lighthouse" commemorating the friendly settlement of the whole affair."

Now, What In the World?

Now I know you want to know "what is a Moro Promontory?" How in the world do I know? It's anothr one of those words that the State department has dug up like that "Moral Terptitude." There is some Guy lurking around our State Department that come from Harvard and hasent got over it yet. First thing you know we will have to have an Interpreter. It sounds like a sort of a board walk like Atlantic City. But Lord who wants to go to Tacna Arica to stroll on a wall made out of Moros?

He says it is "to be kept up Internationally." That sounds like a little miniature League of Nations. If the thing was built to the valor of Peru and Chili you would think Peru and Chili would at least keep it in repair, whatever it is. Now it may not be a Board walk at all. Maybe it is a Museum, or an Athletic Field. They are building everything in the world now under the guise of something to commemorate the valor and deeds of our nations. You will see a big Hall where they hold Charleston Contests built by public subscription to commemorate our Army's valor.

Why have all the International Nations contributnig to maintaining this (Whatever it is) to somebody-else's valor? Peru and Chili's principal valor, as I see it, was in presenting the land to Kellogg to give. (That is If they do.) So the monument should betnot to their valor. It should be dedicated to their Generosity. Then this "Lighthouse commemorating the settlement of whole affair." That's the only time I ever heard of a man suggesting his own monument. This idea of settling this thing is certainly original and is entirely our Secretary of States, and when he suggests "a Lghthouse commemorating its settlement," there sho aint' nobody deserves a Tablet on there but him.

It looks like a wonderful settlement to me. Bolivia gets them a "Moro Promontory" and Kellogg gets him a "Lighthouse." (Rather a unique "memorial" for a man from the State he is from.) We form a little small time League of Nations to keep 'em both in repair, and nobody loses but Chili and Peru, the people that own it now, Unless this "Moro Promontory" is more than I think it is.

I would love to see Bolivia when she sees the Sea the first time from the decks of "Moro Promontory."

Next week we will have the Chinese problem settled by our Gunboats. That will be settled by us taking it away from both Chinese sides and giving it to Japan and England. We will make a "Mandarin Promontory" out of it. Remember next week, China settled. Somehting settled every week, but our own problems.

"Blaze of Glory"

BY FRED M'ISAAC

"Supposing you try that," I said warmly. "Just for the threat my price is thirty-five thousand dollars."

"For God's sake, let him go, or he will be asking fifty thousand," groaned Buffington. "He's the cheekiest chauffeur I ever saw in my life."

"You gentlemen can blame yourselves, and nobody else," I assured them. "Simply because a man wears livery, he doesn't lose his intelligence, and if you conspire to beat a third person out of a fair price for his property be careful not to conspire in his presence."

"We were a couple of darn fools," said Abbott ruefully. "But who would have supposed a servant was the owner of the land we wanted to buy? Well, listen to reason, Alden. Suppose we pay you twenty thousand dollars for your twenty-five acres of land?"

"My reasonable price is twenty-five thousand dollars, take it or leave it."

"Closed," exclaimed Buffington.

"Wait a minute," demanded Abbott.

"What's the use? The fellow has had time to be coached by some shyster lawyer, and we can't hold up a profitable deal for a few thousand dollars. If I ever open my mouth again except in a sound-proof room I hope I get lockjaw."

"All right," agreed Abbott. "You get your blood money, young fellow. And after all, you're a good chauffeur. I won't fire you."

"Too late," I grinned. "I have retired from the chauffeur business."

"You ought to have better sense than to hire a fellow like this for a chauffeur," declared Buffington, who became good-natured when the deal was closed. "Bone-headed servants are a nuisance, but intelligent ones are a menace; they are either crooks who get into your service to rob your house, or schemers who are seeking information. We want immediate possession of that point, young man."

I drew out my key and laid it on the table. "Here's the key of the house. There is no fence around the land. I'll get my possessions out tonight."

"We'll have Gloster draw up the papers and investigate the titles," said Abbott. "Are you so high-toned you are quitting immediately, Alden, or will you work till I can get another chauffeur?"

"I'll stick on the job until you can hire some one else, sir."

"All right. Tomorrow you can sign the bill of sale and get your check. I suppose you think you've pulled off a smart trick, but you don't deserve any credit. We talked too much, and we are paying for it."

"Yes, sir."

I retired, walking on air. My share of the purchase money would be twenty thousand dollars. That may not sound like a large sum, but the most I had ever owned at any one time was the six hundred dollars I had earned fishing on the Grand Banks. With this sum I could put myself through Harvard and set up in the real estate business in Boston.

My experience selling real estate had convinced me that I had more intelligence, ingenuity, and selling ability than most of the people with whom I worked. A good real estate man figures that every thousand dollars should control ten thousand, and with twenty thousand dollars I could swing a two-hundred-thousand-dollar deal. I knew of a certain apartment house in Cambridge that I could lease with a very little capital and manage with a big return on my investment.

My impulse was to tear the livery off my back and burn it up, but I had promised to remain for a few days. Besides, I had to think of Rose Abbott. What difference was this change in my affairs going to make in my relationship with Rose? When I had left her father's service, what was I going to do? It was no use to hang around Hydeport; the stigma of having been a chauffeur would cling to me. Besides, my home was gone. Well, I might as well wipe the mud off the touring car.

That night I carried a merry laughing party to a dance at the golf club. Anderson sat on the front seat with me. Rose and three young women piled into the tonneau with young Frazer. All the way over the girls chortled and giggled and twisted and squirmed and cast remarks forward to Anderson, who wiggled around in his seat to answer them.

It was a curious sensation to sit next to a man who would have throttled me with the greatest good will in the world, but who was compelled to ignore me because of my livery. I think my presence had some effect upon his enjoyment of the ride. I hope so. I was young and pleasure-loving, would have given worlds to be of that party as well as in it; I told myself that this was probably my last night of service; in the future I would meet such people on equal terms, as I had done during the past year, until I had thrust myself into bondage to be near Rose Abbott.

When we reached the golf club Anderson alighted first to help the girls out of the tonneau. Then he turned to me and, with a contemptuous gesture, handed me a dollar bill. I took it, drew a card of matches from my pocket lighted the end of the bank note, and used the flaming money to light a cigaret.

I thought the man would strike me, but before he could say anything, Rose Abbott, who had turned in time to see the exhibition, pushed in front of him. Her eyes were blazing, and her indignation was so overpowering that I actually quailed before it.

"You insolent, bad-mannered, ill bred boor!" she exclaimed. "How dare you insult my guest in my presence? Apologize to Mr. Anderson this instant, and to me."

"Don't mind him, Rose," said Anderson quietly. "Just leave us alone, and I'll take great pleasure in chastising him."

"This is my affair, Burton. Alden, you apologize immediately."

"I am sorry you saw what I did, Miss Abbott," I said. "I meant no disrespect to you."

"That isn't enough. Apologize to Mr. Anderson.

"I'm sorry."

She stamped her foot imperiously almost compellingly, but I was cub enough to be adamant.

"I won't apologize to him," I muttered.

Then, without warning and so swiftly that I had no time to realize what was about to hapepn, she took a step forward, lifted her arm, and slapped me stingingly on the cheek.

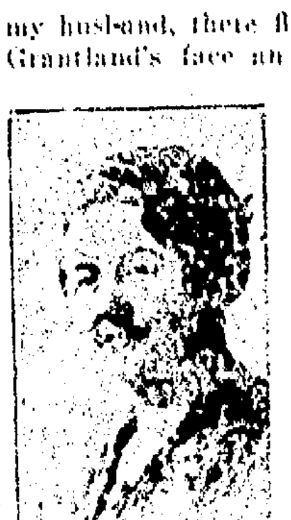
Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Made Relieves Hugh

AT my decisive assertion that I had no intention whatever of leaving my husband, there flashed across Hugh Grantland's face an expression of distinct relief which at first thought appeared to give the lie direct to the impassioned declaration of his love for me to which, without my own volition, I just had listened.



The next instant I understood it. He did not fear Dicky as he did Philip Veritzen, and besides there was in his Quixotic soul a respect for my husband's claim on me which tempered his jealousy. If he could have been assured of my continued happiness with my husband, he would have gone through the rest of his life without uttering one word of his love for me. But his imagined discovery that another man, one of the most fascinating personalities in the great city, was trying to win me had smashed through his defenses, and loosened his tempestous jealous protests. My assurance of my continued loyalty to my husband, the sincerity of which I knew he did not question, had vanished this fear at the same time that it had stripped him of any excuse for the diatribe to which he had just subjected me. It was Dicky's place, not his, to object to my friendship with Philip Veritzen or to take me to task for my imagined undue interest in the famous and fascinating figure of the dramatic world who was my employer.

The consciousness of all this sounded in his voice and showed in his face as he answered my assertion that he surely did not expect me to dignity with a denial his accusation that I was romantically interested in Philip Veritzen.

"I expect nothing," he said dully, "except your anger and contempt. That I have merited richly by my outburst just now. But, oh! can't you see that I was tortured beyond endurance by the thought of someone else winning what I would give more than life to gain? But I do not hope that you ever can forgive me."

He was so humbled, so patently hopeless, that, with a sudden rush of contrition, I held out an olive branch to him. After all he had done me a service by stripping from my heart the pretenses I had built up around it, and besides—when did ever a woman fail to pardon anger which had its roots in love of her?

"Of course I forgive you," I said trying to keep all emotion out of my voice. I had an intuition that the best way of bringing Hugh back to his usual sanity was to treat things in the most matter-of-fact manner possible. "You are too old and tried a friend for me to remain angry with you even when you make so grave a mistake as you did just now. I really ought not to explain my attitude to you, but perhaps it will help you to understand me a little better. You know, of course, that for years before my marriage I was a teacher, a factor in the economic and professional world."

"How you dwell on that!" he said sadly and wonderingly. "Does it really mean so much to you?"

The look of absolute bewilderment in his eyes prompted me to a quick retort.

"Would it mean anything to you?" I countered, "if you were an absolute nonenity as far as your financial status was concerned?"—Copyright, 1926, Newspaper Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Feeling the Strain?
Overwork and Worry Tend to Overtax the System.
MODERN habits—overwork, worry, insufficient rest and exercise—all tend to overtax and slow up the bodily machinery. Good health requires good elimination. The kidneys filter the blood. Sluggish function, however, permits some retention of waste poisons. Such a "toxic condition" is inclined to make one languid and tired; there is sometimes toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passages. Thousands recommend Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic in these conditions. Doan's act on the kidneys only. CITY TREASURY WILL END YEAR WITH BALANCE

Municipal Debt Reduced Nearly $1,500,000 For Two Years; Total Now $1,930,456

The policy of economy and retrenchment in expenditures adopted in connection with Marion's municipal government continues to yield results and definite evidence of stabilization will be provided at the close of this year when the city treasury will again show a substantial balance, officials in charge of finances stated today.

No estimate of the probable balance is available at this time but the fact that there is to be any balance at all is regarded as of marked significance and as indicating that the city has permanently extricated itself from the financial rut in which it traveled for more than a decade.

During this period of approximately 10 years, the municipal government piled up annual deficits which finally amounted to a total of alarming proportions and resulted in a crisis two years ago which threatened to necessitate shutting off street lights, dismissing a large number of police and firemen and otherwise disrupting public service here.

Recovery Starts

Recovery from this dangerous situation began with collection of the occupational tax and voluntary contribution of funds by local business and industrial concerns to keep the various departments of city government in operation. Immediately thereafter City Council began the program of eliminating all unnecessary expense in order to place the municipality on a sound financial basis.

Last year the city treasury showed a balance for the first time in a decade as a result of this change in the financing system. With the same result achieved this year, city officials are confident that the annual deficits which almost threw the city into a state of virtual bankruptcy are at an end.

Bond Debt Lowered

And while this progress has been made in keeping the operating expenses of the city below the annual revenue, tremendous reduction in the bonded debt has been effected.

On Jan. 1, 1924, the total debt of the city, represented by bonds and certificates of indebtedness, was $3,361,000. On Nov. 9 of this year, when the last bonds were issued, the total debt had been lowered to $1,930,456. This reduction of almost $1,500,000 dollars in less than two years is regarded as a remarkable achievement in municipal management and financing.

These debt figures include both special assessment bonds, issued for street improvements, and general tax bonds.

Should no additional bond issues be sold, the city would be able to wipe out its general debt completely within five years at the rate of progress made during the last two years, officials state.

There is no possibility of this situation developing as new indebtedness cannot be avoided. City Council, however, has decided to authorize no bond issues except for improvements that are absolutely necessary and this policy, it is said, is certain to bring about further substantial decrease in the total debt during the next few years.

MEXICANS, NEGRO IN FREE-FOR-ALL BATTLE

Arrested at Erie Transfer; Each Fined $5 and Costs; Released

Two Mexicans and a negro, workmen employed in the Erie yards here, were arrested near the Erie transfer, yesterday afternoon on a disorderly conduct charge. The men staged a free-for-all fight near their lodging quarters in the railroad yards, according to reports of Erie officers who made the arrests. The trio pleaded guilty when arraigned before Mayor Hazen and each was fined $5 and costs. They paid and were released.

The negro gave his name and age as Charles Johnson, 33, and the Mexicans were registered as Antonio Alborez, 20, and Isidero Hebarro, 23. All were considerably battered and bruised as a result of their combat.

Steubenville Jury Finds Youth Guilty of Slaying Policeman

Steubenville, Dec. 11—Albert Pirring, 21, Washington, Pa., was to be sentenced today to life imprisonment, following a verdict by a jury here late last night; finding him guilty of the murder of Owen Burns, Steubenville policeman. The jury recommended mercy, carrying an automatic penalty of life imprisonment.

Burns was shot with his own gun when he was called to stop a disturbance in a disorderly house.

A DAUGHTER of Chief Justice Silvercruys of Belgium is a student in the Yale Art School. Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, Jr., of New Haven, Conn., was before her marriage, Miss Suzanne Silvercruys. Her husband is a son of Professor Henry W. Farnum, Sr., famous Yale economist.

Mrs. Farnum's latest work is a bust of Professor William W. Carmalt, of Yale, 90 years old, who joined the faculty in 1876. He is a familiar figure in New Haven, as he insists on driving about the city in his buggy drawn by his faithful horse, and refuses to give into his family's demands that he be driven about in an automobile.

During the war Mrs. Farnum's labors on behalf of the government of Belgium secured for her knighthood in the Order of Leopold, the highest decoration of the Belgian government and the following medals: Queen Elizabeth War Medal, Medaille Commemorative, and Medaille de la Victoire.

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR TWO MISSING YOUTHS

Relatives of Arkansas Boys Await Word Here of Hunt

Search for Olinda Warren Nash and Robert Barry, 16-year-old boys who disappeared from their homes in Stuttgart, Ark., more than a week ago, continues without results, relatives living in Marion stated today. At first it was thought that the boys were headed toward this city but as time passed and they failed to put in their appearance, police here and in other cities were asked to help hunt for them.

Charles H. Huston, 759 Cheney-av. is the Nash boy's grandfather, and Timothy Caldwell, Gill-av, is an uncle.

Radio stations in Columbus, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago have been asked to broadcast descriptions of the boys and response to this plea is expected in broadcasting tonight and Sunday.

More Value than the Price Suggests

In the year just drawing to a close the price of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars was materially lowered.

Yet during this period more important improvements were incorporated than in any year in Dodge Brothers history. Advances were made in engineering and body designs. The cars possess a greater degree of smoothness, silence and ease. They are more comfortable, more beautiful.

Current prices—made possible, of course, by constantly mounting sales—are therefore not an obvious measure of value. Prices, in fact, have never told the full story of Dodge Brothers dependability and basic worth.

But now, more than ever before, there is far more value than the price suggests.

Football Fans Pick Real All-American Eleven

Hess Lands Position on First Team; Name Karow as Fullback on Second

Hess, Oosterbaan, Wickhorst, Boeringer, Friedman and Joesting Unanimous Choices of Fans; Broda, Connaughton, Kaer, Baker and Sprague, Other Selections

THE American football fan, as a unit, has named the first real All-American football eleven. Acting through the Central Press Association where an election headquarters was established under the supervision of Norman E. Brown, celebrated sports authority, over 400 newspaper clients of that association and other invited papers took part in carrying on the poll that resulted in the first fan-picked all-American.

Of the 11 men thus singled out for the distinction of being so honored by the fans of the country, six may well be unanimous choices. These six are: Oosterbaan, Wickhorst, Hess, Boeringer, Friedman and Joesting. The fans paid Oosterbaan the compliment of placing him on the first team in every local poll taken with the exception of six in the entire country.

The 11 men chosen by the fans of the United States as the greatest men in the game in their positions are:

Oosterbaan of Michigan and Broda of Brown, ends; Wickhorst of Navy and Sprague of the Army, tackles; Connaughton of Georgetown and Hess of Ohio State, guards; Boeringer of Notre Dame, center; Friedman of Michigan, quarter; Baker of Northwestern and Kaer of Southern California, half backs, and Joesting of Minnesota, fullback.

Second Team

The 11 men honored as being the next best in the country are:

Hanson of Syracuse and Winslett of Alabama, ends; Nelson of Iowa and [illegible] of Carnegie Tech, tackles; Shively of Illinois and Swan of Stanford, guards; Butler of Pennsylvania, center; Kelly of Montana, quarter; Wilson of Army and Flannagan of Notre Dame, half backs, and Karow of Ohio State, fullback.

On only four ballots was Wickhorst given second preference to any other tackle.

Hess Honored

Hess, guard with Ohio State, received but four second team points. Every city in the entire Middle West and all but those four in other sections of the country, ranged him as the best of the guards.

The overwhelming vote in favor of Boeringer of Notre Dame for center was surprising to many sporting editors who conducted the polls in their cities, especially in the east where Butler of Pennsylvania had received much credit, and in the cities of the Big Ten Conference in the Middle West where Reitsch of Illinois had drawn the major portion of attention.

Friedman Popular

Oddly enough, the vote of the fans of one Ohio city, Benny Friedman's native state, kept him from having the distinction of receiving the first team vote in every city of the country interested in the poll.

That Baker's fame as an all around star while leading Northwestern to a tie with Michigan for the Big Ten championship was nationally appreciated, is shown by the fact that he led all the half back candidates being challenged only by Morton Kaer of Southern California and Harry Wilson of the Army.

Joesting, Too!

From the moment the first returns began to come in there was no question as to the popularity of Herbert Joesting, human dreadnaught of the Minnesota team and the outstanding fullback of the country.

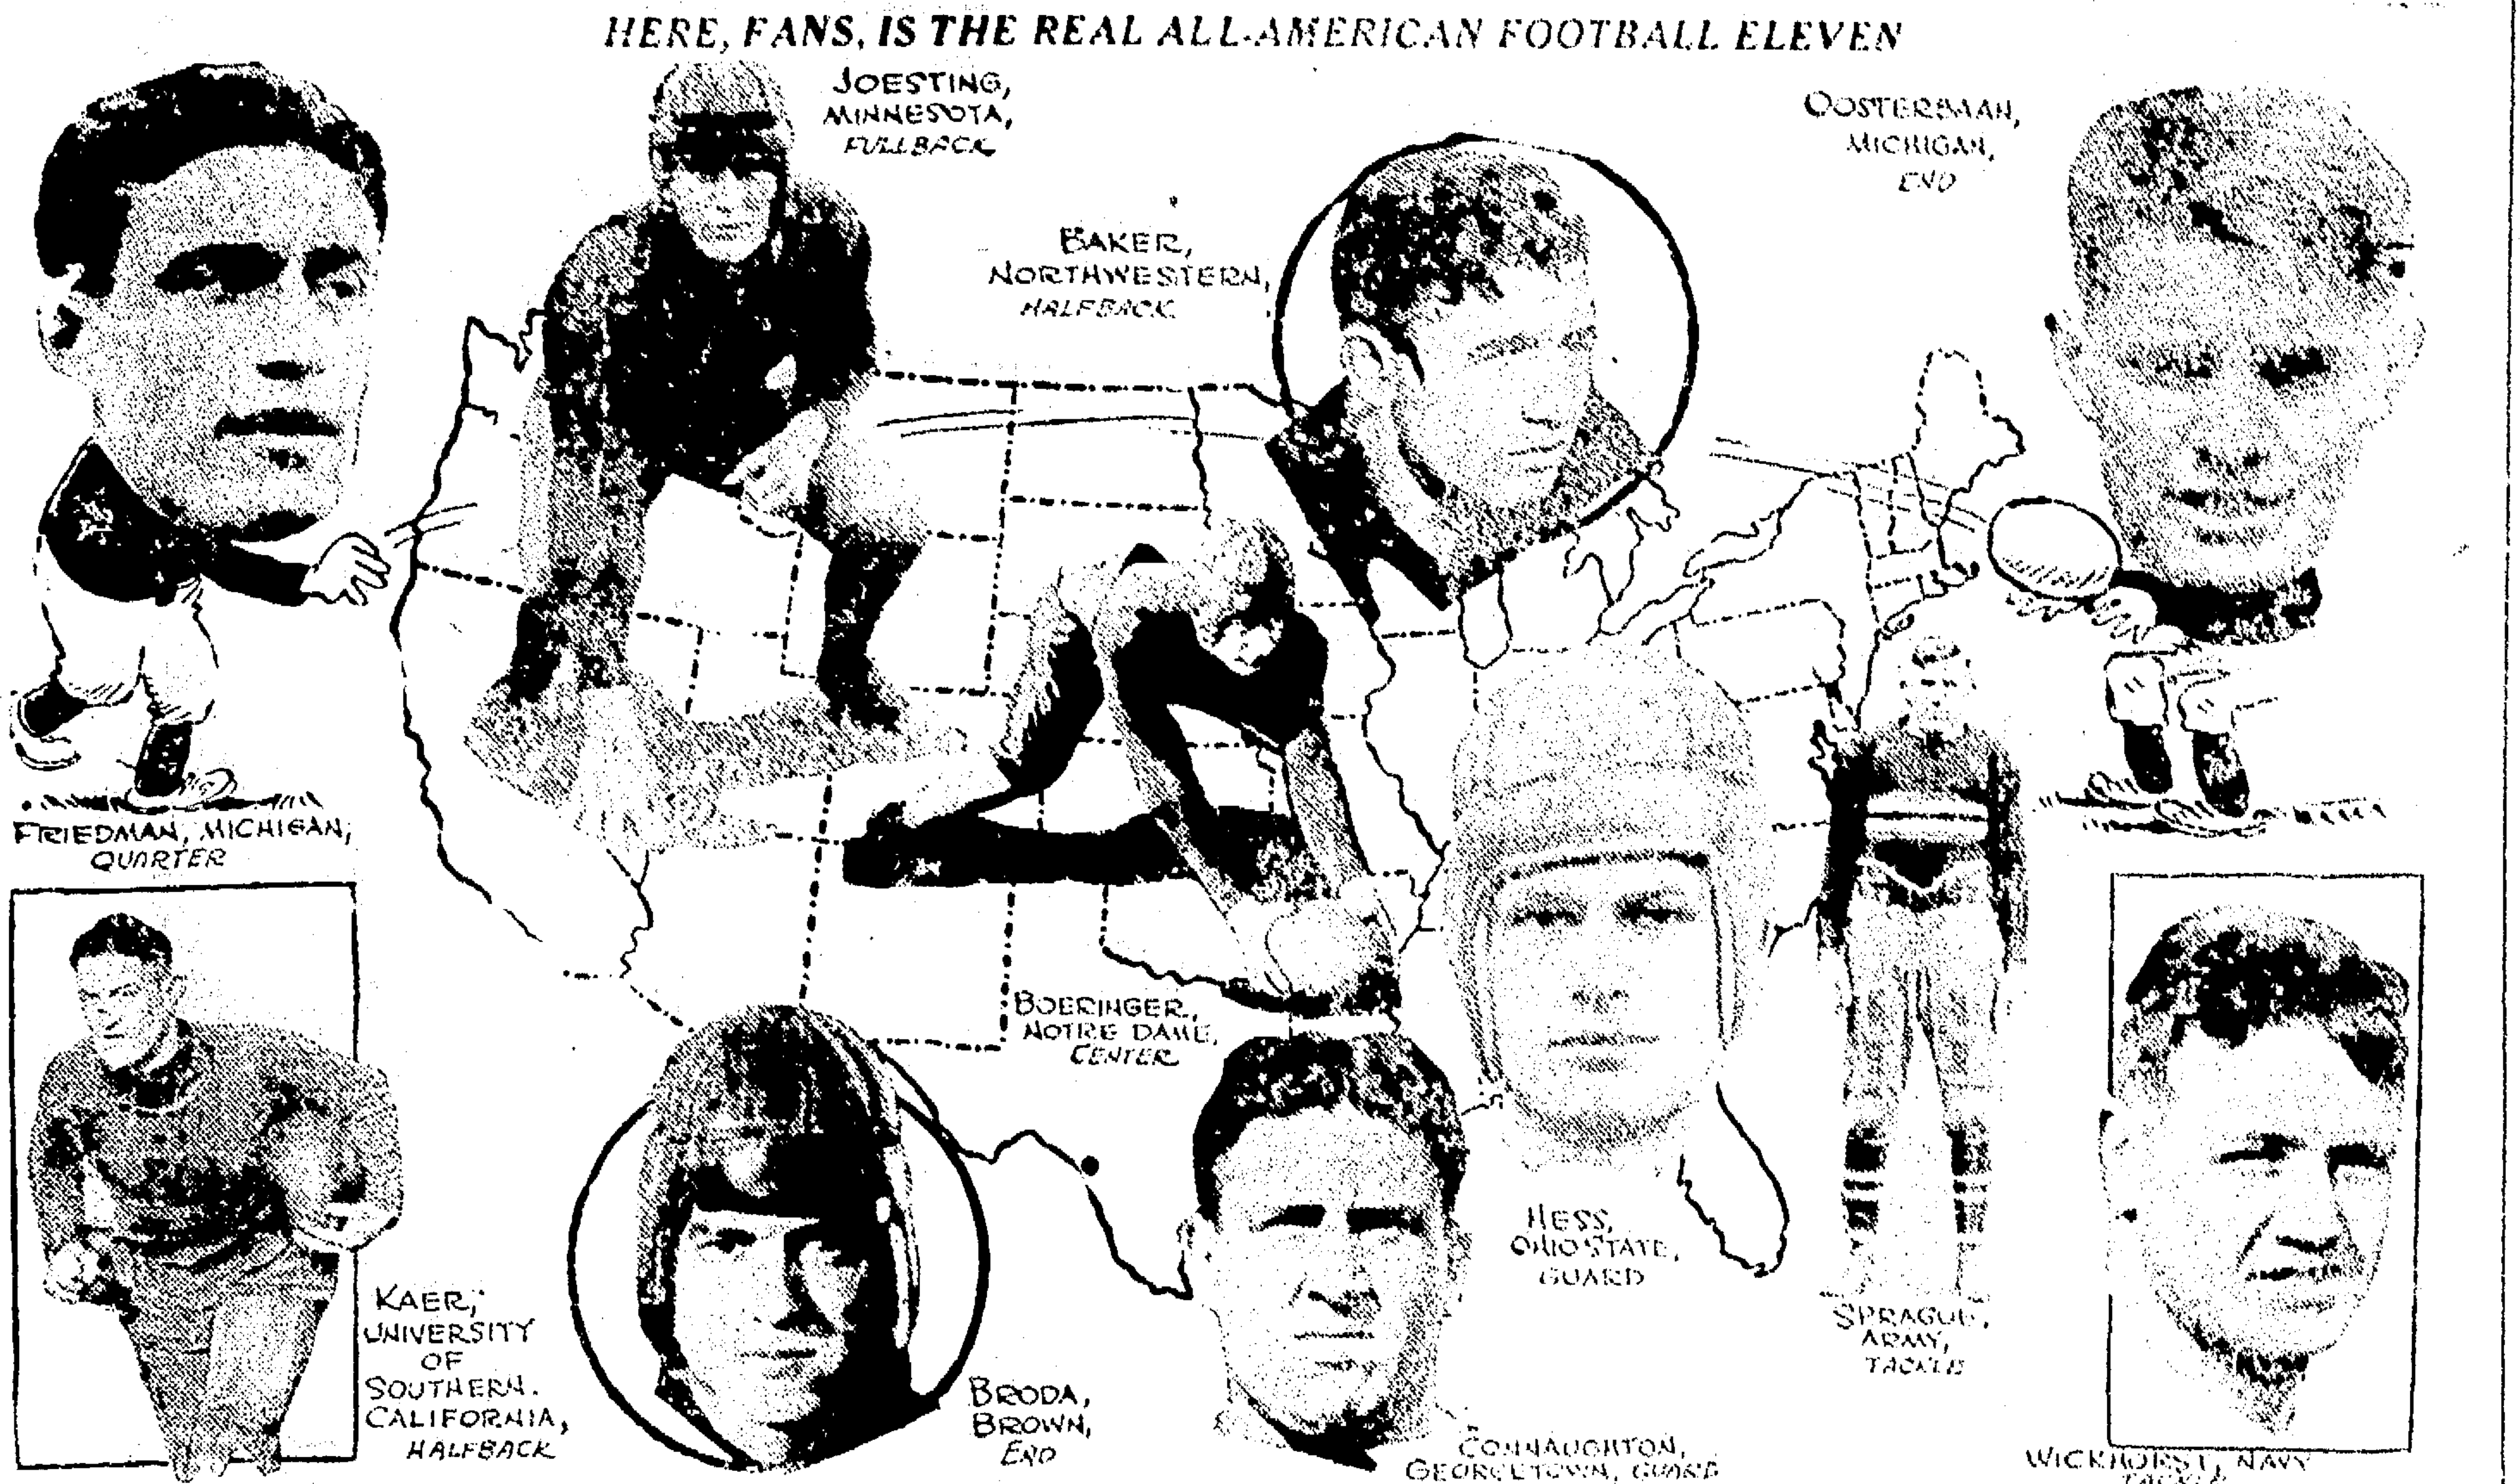
The same city which turned "Thumbs down" on Friedman prevented Joesting from monopolizing the first team honors. This city's vote went to Amos of W. and J.

Of the men honored on the second team those mentioned for tackle and guard positions had the most hectic races. The eastern fans who recognized the worth of Oosterbaan, Hess, Boaringer and other Western stars, insisted that Carey of Cornell be given consideration for one of the guard positions. Meanwhile, western fans divided their feelings between Shively of Illinois and Connaughton of Gorgetown.

122 Mentioned

The total number of men mentioned for places on this real all American football eleven was 122. This indicates clearly that the fans were not led by the glowing accounts of a few of the stars but were fully acquainted with the work of a dozen or two men for every position. For instance, while Oosterbaan, Broda, Hanson and one or two others drew the major portion of attention among the ends, the ballots showed that close to a dozen others had been given due consideration by voters. The same held true of all the other positions.

HERE, FANS, IS THE REAL ALL-AMERICAN FOOTBALL ELEVEN



JOESTING, MINNESOTA, FULLBACK
BAKER, NORTHWESTERN, HALFBACK
OOSTERBAAN, MICHIGAN, END
FRIEDMAN, MICHIGAN, QUARTER
BOERINGER, NOTRE DAME, CENTER
HESS, OHIO STATE, GUARD
KAER, UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, HALFBACK
BRODA, BROWN, END
CONNAUGHTON, GEORGETOWN, GUARD
SPRAGUE, ARMY, TACKLE
WICKHORST, NAVY TACKLE

These eleven grid stars of the country were picked by popular vote of football fans throughout the United States. The poll of many cities was taken by the Central Press Association, under the direction of Norman E. Brown, sports editor of the association.

ENGINEERS WIN OVER COMPANY D

Defeat Guardsmen 19 to 13 in Close Battle

Fairfield Engineers battled to victory over Company D cagers Thursday night following company drill, downing the guardsmen by a 19 to 13 score.

It was the second game of the season for the guardsmen, who are slowly rounding to form and will soon begin avenging defeats suffered prior to this time. Company D men forced the Engineers to their utmost to win the game.

The Fairfield quintet included Bruce, Eaton, Moon, Whaley, Gibson and Harper. Harper was put into the game in Gibson's position at left guard in the last few minutes of play.

The Company D lineup included Snair, Harris and Sirele, forwards; Moon, center, and Pickerel, Byers and Brown, guards.

GASMEN, SHOVEL HOLD INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE TIE LEAD

Logan Gas and Displaymen Winners Last Night

Logan Gas Co. retained the tie with Steam Shovels for first place in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Bowling League last night when the Gasers took three games from Displaymen. Huber continued a close second as the result of its win over the Star bowlers, who suffered defeat in three games last night.

The Shovels and Logan Gas bowlers have lost only four games of the 30 rolled during the season in the Industrial League. They have held first place together for five consecutive rounds. Hubers have lost only seven games out of 30 and have been consistent in holding down third position.

The rest of the teams in the league have had their ups and downs, with the exception of the Marion County Lumber Co. and American Expressmen, who have been fighting for last place the entire season.

The C., D. & M.-Anthony match and the Pennsy & Hocking Valley Lumbermen games were postponed this week and will be rolled off some time next week.

Thomas with 182 points was high scorer for the Stars last night while Lantz of Hubers was high for his team with 190 pins. Kline led the Gas bowlers with 197 and Murphy, with the same score, was high man for Displaymen.

CHARLIE PADDOCK IN "CAMPUS FLIRT"

Another famous athlete may be seen in the role of a film star at the Marion Theater tonight. Charlie Paddock, world's fastest human, appears opposite Bebe Daniels in "The Campus Flirt." Charlie appeared in the Star Auditorium a few weeks ago on the high school lecture course and made a big hit with his audience.

Charlie is the third athlete to be shown in films here during the last three weeks. Red Grange was first in "One Minute To Play." Then came George Kotsonaros, famous wrestler in "When London Sleeps." Now comes the man who holds the world's record for the 100 yard dash.

Charlie and Bebe are engaged to be married, and it is said that the announcement of the engagement followed immediately after the filming of "The Campus Flirt."

CALEDONIA WINS OVER-TIME GAME

Central Juniors Taste 8 to 6 Defeat Last Night

Central Junior High cagers met defeat last night at the hands of Caledonia High School, but they did not fall without putting up a real battle and running the game into an overtime period. The final score was 8 to 6 after a three-minute overtime period was played following a tie of six all at the end of the game.

Ruhl of Central Junior was the hero for a minute when he dropped in the bucket that tied the score just as the gun cracked for the end of the skirmish, but Baird of Caledonia is still being acclaimed by his teammates and community fans for his lucky shot that won the game.

The cage tilt was a battle from start to finish with both teams displaying almost air-tight defense. No stars shone on either team unless we give credit to all as being stellar performers.

Caledonia girls defeated Alumni 11 to 2 in the preliminary game.

AGOSTA DEFEATS MORRAL QUINTET

Morral Seconds Win While First Stringers Lose

Agosta boys trimmed the Morral High school cagers 17 to 9 last night on the Agosta floor, while the Morral girls walloped the Marion Business College girls 27 to 11. In the first preliminary, the Morral second stringers defeated Agosta seconds, 11 to 12.

Schwader, Agosta right forward, starred in the big game of the night and aided in bringing on the downfall of the Morral first string men. Despite the score the game was crammed with excitement.

Brown starred for Morral reserves and Gracely and Brown were the shining lights for Agosta.

Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport

By Pat Murphy

THE National Boxing Association, which maintains headquarters at Cincinnati, has sent letters to the two United States Senators from Ohio, and to representatives Longworth and Stephens, who represent the Cincinnati district, asking that they work for the repeal of the law which prohibits the interstate shipment of moving picture films of boxing matches. The Association, which held its annual meeting this year at Detroit, passed resolutions asking its members to do all they could to bring about the repeal of this law.

The law should be repealed. In fact, it should never have been passed. It was a result of the hysteria and the mistaken idea that the Jeffries-Johnson fight would be productive of race prejudice. The law has been disregarded in some instances. One occasion was when the pictures of the Firpo-Dempsey fight were sent around the country. The films were sent from New York into other states and the promoters paid a fine and were then allowed to exhibit the picture. A case of the law itself being an accessory after the fact.

EIGHTY-ONE baskets and six free throws, for a total of 168 points, were scored in a recent game of basketball at Des Moines, Iowa, in an amateur league contest. The Old Pal team made the big score against the Combat Train quintet of Fort Des Moines. The soldier boys failed to score a single point.

THE members of the Illinois Boxing Commission seem to be in earnest in their endeavor to place boxing on a high plane in the state. Chairman Righeimer, in announcing the decision of the commission to use two judges in addition to a referee at box-matches, says: "We want to put boxing on a high plane and we must experiment until we get what is right for the sport." The decision is a result of the storm of protest arising after the Walker-Flowers fight last week.

PROMOTER FUGAZY is going to get one fight from Jack Sharkey before the Boston boy deserts him for the camp of Rickard. Humbert has signed Jack Delaney, the light heavyweight champion, to meet the conqueror of of Harry Wills before Feb. 1, on which date Sharkey's agreement with Fugazy expires. There is a good chance that Delaney may spoil Rickard's plans for building Sharkey up for a title fight.

Radios Most Popular In Rural Districts Survey of Marion Dealers Shows

Farmers Get Market Reports, Farm Talks, Crop Condition Announcements and Weather; Educational as Well as Entertaining, Claim

Although there is no way of determining the exact number of radios installed in the city of Marion, local dealers seem to agree that the percentage is not extraordinarily large among residents of this city.

Radio sales this year have been "good" so far, several dealers report, but there are many households that are not equipped with the machine that will bring before them the greatest entertainment available in this country.

Radio has become very popular in the Marion rural sections, a survey shows. One of the most useful "implements" in farming is the radio, one farmer said a few days ago to a dealer here. Market reports, farm talks, reports of crop conditions, weather, and many other interesting and instructive items in the life of a farmer may be received over the air.

Musical Programs

In the city, musical programs receive the most attention from radio fans as a rule. The radio has brought about a change in tase for various kinds of music. Both lovers of so-called "jazz" music and those who adhere to the classical type have changed slightly in their attitude toward each kind of musical entertainment.

The "jazz" band, as far as most radio listeners are concerned, has disappeared from the air. In its place, however, is the smooth, rhythmical dance orchestra. The dance orchestras tuned in with great frequency both by the former "jazz hounds" and lovers of symphonies, include George Olsen and his music from WJZ, Vincent Lopez and his Band from WEAF, Austin Wylie and his Golden Pheasant Orchestra from WTAM, Jack Denny's performers from WJZ, and Jean Goldkette's orchestra from WWJ.

The excellent dance music transmitted by these orchestras through stations that are easily tuned in here, has elevated the taste of the "jazz hound" to a higher plane where he no longer cares for a brass "bang bang" affair that sometimes goes under the name of an orchestra. Even the most extreme fanatics against dance music have been reconciled by the splendid entertainment placed on the air.

Symphony Orchestra

On the other hand, the Atwater Kent Hour, Balkite Hour, and other programs that feature symphony orchestra and string ensembles, together with vocal selections by the world's greatest artists, have further changed the attitude of many towards classical music.

Sport and reports of athletics are said to be next in popularity among radio fans. The broadcasting of football games during last season brought thousands of letters into the hands of the stations giving the play-by-play report. Basketball is now under way, together with hockey, boxing, wrestling, and the like. Many stations arrange their football and basketball schedules at the same time the schools announce their games for the season.

Old Time dance music and Hawaiian entertainment make up the third favorite entertainment of radio fans. This is shown by the number of congratulations on programs received every day by hundreds of stations.

LATEST PARIS MODES

Susan Brown will inform the women of the radio audience of Station WJZ of the latest modes from Paris in the line of women's wear. This information will be given at 2:20, Friday afternoon, Dec. 17.

GIFTS FOR "NATURE LOVERS"

Olive Hyde Foster, who is broadcasting a series of talks on plants and gardens from Station WJZ, at 2:30 Tuesday afternoons, will devote her entire talk on Tuesday, Dec. 14, to the matter of gifts for "Nature Lovers". Olive Hyde Foster realizes that there are many who like to receive plants flowers as Christmas presents, assist those of the radio audience desire to give Christmas presen nature lovers, she will tell of the plants and flowers to buy.

the first time the radio audi East have had an opporhear Vice President Dawes 15, at which time he spoke assembled diners at the radio banquet held in Hotel Astor was broadcast by the largest chain of stations ever assembled in radio history.

Charles M. Schwab, who is the chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and a native of Pennsylvania, will preside at the meeting and introduce the speakers.

Irvn Cobb, the novelist and short story writer, will make one of his humorous after dinner speeches, which have made him a favorite with the radio audience in the past.

The third speaker on the program is Ex-Governor William C. Sproul. Ex-Governor Sproul was born in a small town in Pennsylvania, graduating from a Pennsylvania College and receiving numerous honorary degrees from Universities of that state. He started life as a journalist, owned and organized several newspapers in his native state and later entered the steel, railroad, mining, traction and power enterprises. His first step in politics occurred in 1896, when he was elected to the Pennsylvania state senate. His rise in politics in Pennsylvania was rapid and in 1919 he was elected governor of the state. He has been nick-named "The Father of Good Roads" in Pennsylvania.

MAXWELL ORCHESTRA TO PLAY SOUTHERN MUSIC

Will Be Heard Sunday Night Over WJZ and Many Chain Stations

Nathaniel Schilkret, the conductor of the Maxwell Coffee Ensemble, will pay homage to "Dear Old Dixie" in the next program to be broadcast by the Maxwell Concert Orchestra through Stations WJZ, WRC, WGY, WBZ and KDKA, at 10:15, Sunday night.

For many weeks, requests have poured in from radio listeners asking for selections of the Southland, and in this concert practically all of these requests will be answered.

There are many unusual selections included in the program to be offered by the Maxwell Concert Orchestra at this time. There will be a medley of the famous Foster southern melodies such as "Old Black Joe," "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground", "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming", "Gentle Annie", "Hard Time", "My Old Kentucky Home", "Old Dog Tray" and many others. But the southern song concert will not stop there. Folk melodies of the West Virginia hills will be played and a southern rhapsodie. Several negro spirituals will be put into the program to give the atmosphere of the south, while the spirit of the carnival at New Orleans will be typified with the playing of a descriptive piece portraying the life and excitement of the mardi gras. The creole population of Louisiana will be remembered in the playing of "Creole Days", while the entire south will be bound together in the finale, the playing of the "American Fantasy".

CHRISTMAS COOKING ADVICE

Mrs. Elinor G. Hanna, head of the Candy Institute, will tell the women of the radio audience "How To Do Your Christmas Cooking Early"— particularly with regard to the holiday candies. This talk will be broadcast by Station WJZ at 2:30 Friday afternoon, Dec. 17. She says that she will disclose the secret of making candies keep and, like fruit cake, improve with age.

Few tell others how to run their business, but a hundred years of practice have trained us in telling everybody how to run his life. Why do we all think we are some kind of Messiahs?

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Nuts are scarce this year for the holidays, although a complete line may be found in the local markets.

California walnuts are scarce and the price is high. Imported nuts are cheap but the quality is low. A few hickory-nuts may be had at two pounds for 25 cents. The supply of cocoanuts, English walnuts, Brazilnuts and hazelnuts is about normal.

The sudden drop of five and six cents on eggs the last week was due to the unlooked for shipment from the west. About 2,000,000 dozen were sent into New York just in time to prevent the skyward trend of prices.

Favorable weather in the egg producing regions of the Pacific coast resulted in this plentiful supply which was sent east by fast express.

Produce in general for the week dropped in price, while fowls made a little rise.

Oranges are expected to drop in a few days, but not to the low level of last year's holiday market.

Christmas trees are coming in with the price ranging from 65 cents to $2.50.

STOCKS SHOW EVIDENCE OF IMPROVEMENT TODAY

Short Session Active in Response to Favorable Retail Trade Reports

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks irregular; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds steady; oil steady; cotton steady; rubber steady; sugar firm; copper steady; pig iron steady; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, Dec. 11—Responding to the week-end reports of a broad expansion in retail trade throughout the country, and the ability of the market to maintain the higher price ranges established this week, stocks showed every evidence of improvement in the short session of the market today.

The railroad stocks swung along in the upward movement inaugurated on Friday, while copper stocks and motors reached the highest price level of the week in some sections in active trading, in which the outside public were reported to have participated. A slightly better tone was in evidence in the better grade of oil stocks, including the Standard Oils and a few of the prominent Independents which have figured in the favorable news dispatches of the week.

Continental Baking class A jumped 5½ points to 72 on its first sale as a result of the action of the directors in declaring the regular $2 quarterly dividend. This completes a 14-point rally from the low of the week, the stock having dropped to 58 on the "bear rumors" of an impending cut in the dividend rate.

Chile was a leader in the copper stocks, advancing 1½ to 36¼ on reports that the outstanding $35,000,000 of convertible six per cent debentures would be called and retired at 110 and accrued interest in April. Anaconda and American Smelting were strong and active. Universal Pipe common was a feature in the specialties, with large scale buying above 30.

Great Western, Cuban-American, American Sugar Refining and other sugar stocks resumed the spectacular forward movement which was in evidence a few weeks ago. New forward movements were also inaugurated by a few of the public utility stocks, the independent steel shares and the equipments. The week-end commodity markets were fairly steady, with cotton, wheat, rubber and copper unchanged, sugar and oil inclined slightly higher.

After a brief period of profit-taking, the market developed a strong tone near the close and final prices were in most cases the highest for the session. The rise of Chrysler Motor to 39½ in active trading was the feature of the motor list, while Montgomery Ward led the rally in the mercantile shares. Copper stocks and independent steel shares retained their buoyancy until the close.

Delaware & Hudson and New York Central interest, which are believed to have entered on a stage of friendly warware for control of Lehigh. Most of the railroad leaders favor Loree's contention that the road should be used to hook up the B. P. and R. lease of which is now sought, and the Delaware and Hudson lines.

"Old Ironsides," "Faust"

NEWS AND VIEWS OF THEATER

Two Big Films of Week

BY RAY MURR

TWO big feature pictures were revealed in New York during the last week. One was "Old Ironsides." The other was "Faust."

"Old Ironsides" was made by James Cruze for Paramount while "Faust" was done in Germany by Ufa. Both pictures won unstinted praise in motion picture trade papers this week.

Laurence Stallings, who wrote "What Price Glory?" and likewise did the scenario for "The Big Parade," is responsible for the scenario of "Old Ironsides."

The very title "Old Ironsides" conjures the great naval battles of olden days. And, one of the greatest features of this picture is a new invention, the Magnascope, an arrangement which permits the throwing of a picture twice the size of the one ordinarily projected on the screen.

Thus, the first night audience in New York was brought to its feet when the screen opened up to twice its size and revealed the Frigate Constitution sailing directly at the audience and then turning its broadside just as it comes in front of the camera.

In the second part of the picture the story is resumed on the regular screen, returning to a double size to show the battle of the Constitution in the harbor of Tripoli with the pirate ships.

Esther Ralston, Charles Farrell, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Johnny Walker and George Godfrey, the colored heavyweight boxer, have the principal roles in the picture.

Those followers of the flickering cinema who enjoyed the bewildering trick photography of the German-made picture, "Variety," shown here a month or more ago, will revel in the delights of "Faust." Mephisto, played by Emil Jannings, is seen going through the air with Faust on a flying cloak. Then there is the appearance of Mephisto's head and shoulder's above a village, his blowing of the black plague over the town, the burning of words upon a paper scroll, dazzling light flashes that blind the action momentarily.

"Faust" is said to be one of the best pictures that Germany has sent over to the United States.

THAT LITTLE THEATER MOVEMENT

GRADUALLY this column is getting a "kickback" from the story recently carried anent the need of a Little Theater organization in Marion.

Several persons have inquired about such a movement and all are of the same mind — that such an organization is a need in this city.

The question of the Little Theater movement resolves itself into the question of whether or not people in cities the size of Marion want to keep burning the spark of the speaking stage and keep in touch with the drama.

Conditions on the "road" are getting no better. Theatrical managers all over the country are crying about the lack of dramatic road shows and any number of the bigger theaters have turned to feature motion pictures as substitutes.

Not only does the Little Theater sustain interest in the dramatic stage but it also gives those persons who have talent an opportunity to reveal it in a pleasant avocation. This column would urge those Marionites most interested in the movement to get behind it and push.

IN LOCAL THEATERS NEXT WEEK

SEVERAL years ago Walter De Leon was writing a series of vaudeville stores in The Satevepost. They were most interesting and true to life. One has been made into a picture "Up Stage", and it features Norma Sherer at the Marion Theater the first three days of next week. It's the story of vaudeville girl who suddenly acquires "ritzy airs" and begins to "high hat" her partner. And then finds out it isn't profitable to be "upstage". And comes down. Monta Bell directed the picture which also features Oscar Shaw and Dorothy Phillips.

For the last half of the week Milton Sills is to be seen in "Paradise", taken from Cosmo Hamilton's novel, a story of south sea adventure. Betty Bronson, recalled here most recently for her Madonna in "Ben Hur", is in Sills' support.

The Grand turns its stage, lights and auditorium in general over to the Elks for the first half of the week that they may stage their Charity Minstrels.

For the last half of the week, commencing Thursday, the picture will be "The Show-Off", from the famous stage comedy of the same name. Inasmuch as "The Show-Off" recently was done on the local lyceum platform it is probable that the picture version will be particularly interesting. Ford Sterling has the lead role.

ABOUT A LAD WHO GREW UP

MARION theatergoers this week had an opportunity to observe a very, very young man trying to find himself.

Five years ago Wesley Barry was a famous "kid" movie star. Three years ago he was doing juvenile roles with success. Now his star in the film firmament has been dimmed. Age—and not a very aged age, either—has creepd upon Wesley and the freckle-face boy faces the necessity of making good in another line or waiting a few years until he is able to establish himself in other than juvenile motion picture roles.

Time has a way of playing jokes on most of us and particularly on the movie folk. Youngsters bask in their screen cuteness. A few years and they are passing out of the picture. Remember the Lee Kids! And, then Jackie Coogan! And, finally Wesley Barry! Some of these young stars slip into the background for a few years and then "come back." Madge Evans did that, although we have never grown enthusiastic about Madge's latest efforts. Virginia Lee Corbet is becoming more prominent.

But, Wesley is trying a new field. For some nine weeks now he has been in vaudeville with a company of dancers and musicians. And, in the meantime Wesley has grown up." He's married. And, he has donend a 'coon coat and a derby and his freckled kid grin is missing. And, moreover, he is affecting older ways. Wesley's a very young man with suddenly acquired very old ways. But, we would like to see Wesley make good and eventually climb back into the cinema life where several years ago he made us chortle with glee by just being "hisage."

CHRISTMAS CHECKS FIND WAY INTO CITY STORES

Fund Distribution Already Reflected In Trade Channels, Dealers Report

Christmas Savings checks distributed by local banks during the last week are beginning to find their way into trade channels, hundreds having already been used for holiday purchases at stores here, according to reports of merchants. The checks, totalling approximately $121,000, were mailed out by the banks on Dec. 10 and several days prior to that one of the building and loan associations distributed $40,000 to its Christmas Savings depositors.

Before the close of next week all but a small percentage of the Christmas Savings funds will be in circulation as a result of having been used for Yuletide shopping, merchants and bankers predict. Some of the depositors use the money for permanent savings accounts but this is said to represent only a small part of the total.

MARION LEGION MEN TO TAKE PART IN CONTEST

Ohio and Iowa Posts To Stage Membership Campaign Race

Additional incentive was given members of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, of the American Legion, to take an active part in their campaign to increase the enrollment of the post by receipt of a communication from state headquarters, today, announcing that Ohio and Iowa will stage a membership contest during the next year. These two states have been rivals in membership drives during the last few years and the Ohio Legion will put forth a determined effort to take the lead in 1927.

A. W. Sandcock, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, announces that Ohio's quota for next year is 41,531. The membership goal of the local post is 250. The present enrollment is about 180.

DESPONDENT, SUICIDES

Detroit, Dec. 11—Mrs. Gertrude Erickson, 29, formerly of Lisbon, O., is dead here today as the result of swallowing poison. It has not been determined if the poison was taken accidentally or purposely. J. E. Miller, her father, said she had been despondent since her mother died last March.

TAKES OUT PERMIT

C. M. Walters, 650 Lee-st, took out a permit at the office of the City Clerk today, for the construction of a garage at 758 Congress-st at an estimated cost of $50. This was the first building permit issued here since Dec. 2.

FEDERAL GRAND JURORS RETURN 55 INDICTMENTS

Ninety-Two Cases Considered; Dry Violations Constitute Most

Columbus, Dec. 11—Return of 55 indictments features the report of the federal grand jury on file here today. After being in session four days, during which they heard 136 witnesses while considering 92 cases, the jurors submitted their report late Friday night.

Twelve cases were passed and 25 ignored. Six of the indictments were sealed.

While most of the indictments allege violation of federal dry laws, many of them charge sale of narcotics, railroad freight theft and automobile stealing.

REPORTED BETTER

Mrs. B. R. Boyd of Waldo, who underwent an abdominal operation at City Hospital recently, is reported better today.

CONDITION GOOD

The condition of William Hoffhines, 167 Commercial-st, who is undergoing treatment in City Hospital, is reported good today.

REPORTED IMPROVED

R. H. Klinefelter, Marion Route No. 2, who underwent a major operation at City Hospital recently, is reported improved today.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

was Saturday. I slept so late ad to call me, but he did at me like he most always st said: "Come on, son, out." But it don't matter s father tells him to hop I hopped out and Jubilee and slid under the bed.

pretty good singer, and I family is finding it out. I louder voice than anyone I I was singing whilst I was cow, but she made a pass her hind foot that came so I had had whiskers like my I would of had to wash cow don't care how dirty her she kicks at a fella.

last night and I made it up that we would go out ted house, and when I was face I asted my grandfather ake tracks, and he said: the people that see them that ." My ant looked at him and said: "There isn't any ." My grandfather said: ve seen thousands of them." "You mean to tell me you thousands of ghosts?" and "Certainly not. I have seen of tracks." Then they all at my ant. She laughs some- she is offal careful about it er face might crack.

n't go to the haunted house.

Youniss and Feddie and Hattie came over with their skates so we all went to the pond and we would skate to the rough place in the ice and then jump over it to the smooth ice on the other side.

I was making a snowball and the Lost Bag of Tripe said to me: "Your old cow is your young cow's mother, isn't she?" I said: "Yes, did you think she was yours?" and he said: "She is your father's cow, isn't she?" I said: "Sure. Then he said: "That makes your old cow your father's mother, don't it?" Then he opened his face to laugh and I pushed most of the snowball into it, and Feddie put out her foot and he sot down hard enough to jar his spine loose.

When he got up I told him to let my family alone or I would paist him, and he said he didn't know the cow was my family, and skun out. He had an empty consecrated lie can that he had put some sugar in, and he went up to my house and watched his chance and put it on the floor by Annabelle Lee, and my mother came in and found her eating the lie and she sent for the doctor and almost went crazy before she found out what it was.

I and Jubilee went over by his house and laid for him to come out till he went to bed, but he didn't. The dirty crook.

Nothing happened today.

Mr. Longears took the sharp little ax paws, but as he looked at it he his pink nose and said:

look here, boys and girls, I thought of something. Instead down a Christmas tree, to our bungalow to wither and die, would you like to have a live tree?"

"A live tree?" exclaimed Baby Bunty.

"A live Christmas tree," went on Wiggily. "Instead of cutting one I will dig one up, roots and all put a washtub of earth, and, after New we can plant it back in the again."

But Baby Bunty, after a while, looking up at the tree, whispered to Jingle:

"This isn't a live tree at all! It doesn't move and it doesn't say anything. How can it be alive?"

"Maybe Daddieums made a mistake," agreed Jangle.

But just then one of the limbs of the tree reached down and knocked off Bunty's hat.

"Oh!" she cried. And then the tree lowered another branch and tickled Jangle on the back of her neck so that she sneezed "Ker chookie choo!" And Uncle Wiggily, who was bringing up the wheelbarrow on which to take the tree home, asked what was the matter.

"Baby Bunty said that this tree wasn't alive, and I thought so, too," explained Jangle. "But it knocked her hat off and it tickled me, so it must be alive."

blowing the tree branches!" laughed Tumble, and then he stopped, all of a sudden, for he fell down in the snow. But Baby Bunty said the tree was really alive and so did Jangle. And it must have been, for when they took it home in a big tub of earth, the little rabbits heard the tree singing a song about Christmas as the wind blew through its branches.

"And what jolly times we'll have when the tree is trimmed and when presents grow on it!" laughed Jingle, as she danced around the wheelbarrow. So everything happened for the best. And if the postage stamp doesn't try to hide around on the back of the envelope when the letter carrier wants to tag it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's tree trimmings.

OUSTED DRY OFFICIAL FREED ON TWO COUNTS

Court Considering Motion for Dismissal of Remaining True Bills

San Francisco, Dec. 11—Col. Ned M. Green, deposed prohibition administrator, today had been freed on two of the eleven counts on charges of embezzlement in connection with his alleged use of government-seized liquor at "parties" given to his friends.

With his trial ready to be resumed Monday, Judge A. F. St. Sure also took under submission a motion for the dismissal of the remaining counts.

The two counts against Green which were dismissed concerned alleged removal of government liquor from prohibition headquarters on Dec. 5 and 10, 1925.

JUDGE RESERVES HIS DECISION IN LAUCHER CASE

Testimony in Divorce Trial Completed Today; Court Adjourned for Week

Completion of testimony in the divorce suit brought by Verna Laucher against Edward Laucher was reached in Common Pleas Court this morning. Judge George B. Scofield adjourned court until Monday and announced that he would take the case under advisement and give his decision later.

The defense summoned 36 witnesses to testify as to Laucher's reply to the charges of his wife. The plaintiff did not subpoena any witnesses, but called them as wanted.

Allmony Hearing Set

The alimony hearing on the cross petition of defendant in the suit brought by Paul Hoch against Helen Hoch, in which he sought divorce, which was denied, will be held in Common Pleas Court on Dec. 20. The hearing was originally scheduled for this morning, but was set over because of the hearing of the Laucher divorce case.

Sarah King, by executrix, to Samuel E. Hopkins, one lot in Prospect, $5,-200.

George Orians to George Hawkins, part of one lot in Marion, $1.

Sues for Divorce

Suit for divorce has been filed by Ella Welker against George Welker on grounds of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. They were married March 1, 1926. She charges abuse on his part, and that at one time he threatened the lives of both herself and son, driving them from their home with a revolver. She asks alimony, both temporary and permanent.

LONDON'S TOBACCO BARON MAKES BUY IN PALESTINE

Jerusalem, Dec. 11 — A block in shares worth $500,000 has been taken by Bernard Baron, of London, seventy-year old Jewish philanthropist known as England's "Tobacco Baron," in the Palestine Electrical Corporation. The company was formed to carry out the agreement concluded in 1921 between the British Crown Agents for the Colonies and Pinhas Rutenberg, for a concession for the utilization of the waters of the Rivers Jordan and Yarmuk and their affluents for generating and supplying electrical energy.

Mr. Baron has contributed $250,000 to the Keren Hayesod (Palestine Foundation Fund) and $50,000 to the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. He is now the largest individual shareholder of the Palestine Electric Corporation.

Under the agreement at least $1,-000,000 of the company's nominal shares capital had to be paid in cash to make the concession valid. This condition was carried out some time back, and the authorized capital is now fixed at $5,000,000.

The Jaffa Electric Company, Inc., a subsidiary company of the Palestine Electric Corporation, made a net profit for 1925 of $30,515, according to the report to the League of Nations submitted by the British Government. A dividend of six per cent was paid on ordinary shares of the company for that period.
